ST. JOSEPH RIVER RESCUE: Officers from Berrien sheriff's department marine division pull Charles Gallagher, 63, Kokomo, Ind., into boat during rescue near dam across St. Joseph river at Buchanan Sunday afternoon. Gallagher's wife, Frances, 64, had already been hauled into boat. Couple went into water when their 15-foot boat got too close to dam and swamped when swift back current pulled craft into churning white water. Buchanan patrolman Francis Morley and Buchanan Fire Chief Neal Burks were first to get rope to couple. Morley was on duty when call for help was received and got his private boat from his home

Arsonists Thriving In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — Within the last month, three Detroiters have died in fires that investigators say were set deliberately.

Charles Thornton Sr. was killed April 30 in a fire at his downtown discotheque. Norma Sanders and her 19-year-old daughter died May 7 in a fire and explosion at their northwest Detroit home. Those and more than half of all the fires in Detroit in the last year were set, according to the chief of the Detroit Fire Department's arson squad.

James Kilson has a staff of 18 investigators to check on fires where arson is believed to be involved. Of last year's 50,000 fire runs in the city, his section investigated 4,434. Of those, 2,115 were proved to be arson, he said.

In 1966, the number of investigations totaled 3,080. Fire insurance rates have been going up, thanks partly to the growing arson cases, industry officials say. Robert Lutz, assistant vice president of Michigan Mutual Liability Co., said fire insurance on a $30,000 home in Detroit in 1971 would have cost $47.67. In 1976, the same insurance cost $96. Statewide, the statistics are about the same. "We don't attempt to segregate Detroit from the rest of the state in dwelling insurance," Lutz explained.

There are several reasons for the growing number of arson cases. Arnold Asch, vice president of Michigan Mutual, said a businessman may see a fire insurance policy as a way out of a failing company, or a homeowner may believe he can do better collecting insurance on a house in a deteriorating neighborhood than selling it. A recent program of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) helped contribute to the arson problem, said Lutz.

Under the program, low-income families were placed in good housing by selling them repossessed homes for as little as $1,000.

"We know there were people earning a living by burning houses," Lutz said. He says there were cases in which a HUD home was purchased for very little, insured for its market value of $10,000 or $15,000, and then burned down.

Even though they may have strong suspicions about a fire, insurance companies cannot arbitrarily refuse to pay a claim. To do so, it first must be proved that the fire was arson, and then that the person insured had something to do with the fire.

Lutz believes the legislature should amend the law on high-risk policies to allow insurance companies to pay off only the homeowner's equity in his house, not its market value.

Four Hurt In Prison Mini-Riot

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — Complaining of overcrowded conditions, inmates overran a cell-block housing 400 prisoners, set fires and tore up furniture Sunday night at Southern Michigan Prison, officials said.

Four inmates suffered minor injuries when prisoners fought among themselves, said William Grant, a deputy warden. About 50 prisoners who triggered the disturbance returned to their cells peacefully late Sunday night, a prison spokesman said.

The inmates burned mattresses, destroyed lockers in their cells and tore up a counseling office, a prison spokesman said. Property damage was estimated at $20,000.

Grant said the inmates told him they were upset about overcrowding at the world's largest walled prison, where the number of convicts totals nearly 6,000.

Grant called the disturbance "spontaneous." He described it as "an outward expression of anxieties (because of) overcrowding." The cell block where the trouble centered is a minimum security unit.

Grant said disciplinary action might be considered against a few of the inmates.

The disturbance occurred during a planned electrical outage at the prison. Consumers Power Co. performed some repair work earlier in the day. Cell block No. 9, where the disturbance occurred, was without lights when the trouble started, said Grant. Power was restored early today.

A Consumers spokesman said power was to have been restored by 9:30 p.m., but "the job was underestimated" and the repair work was not completed until after midnight.

"I'm sure the total darkness gave them an opportunity. I think they took advantage of that particular situation," Grant said today. Inmates had been told the lights would be off until 9:30 p.m.

Prisoners Grant talked with this morning expressed "no hostility towards the guards," the deputy warden said. "It was just a perfect opportunity to vent some frustration over the crowded situation."

Grant said the trouble started when some of the inmates popped open the locks on their cells. Some of the locks, said Grant, are in disrepair and there is not sufficient staff to maintain them.

Guards retreated from the cell block when some inmates began throwing items from their cells between 9:30 and 10 p.m. Grant spoke with the inmates shortly after 11 p.m. The inmates complained of overcrowding and the power outages and agreed to return to their cells about 11:30 p.m.

Cell block No. 9 contains single-man cells. Because of overcrowding, however, some of the inmates are housed in bunk beds set up at either end of the cell block.

State Police and Jackson County sheriff's deputies guarded the prison gates, but did not enter the facility.

One inmate suffered two broken hands. Another suffered a shoulder injury. The other two injured inmates suffered cuts and bruises, Grant said.

Zambia Says It's At War With Rhodesia

LUSAKA, Zambia (AP) — President Kenneth Kaunda said today Zambia is in a "state of war" with neighboring white-ruled Rhodesia.

Kaunda announced that the Zambian army had been placed on full alert and issued orders that any aircraft crossing into Zambian airspace from Rhodesia be "shot on sight."

"I wish to tell all Zambians today that we are in a state of war with Rhodesia," Kaunda told a news conference in this capital city.

"We will fight and I have already directed all my boys to shoot any Rhodesian planes on sight using Zambian airspace."

This black-governed country of five million people, on Rhodesia's northwestern border, has served as a base for black nationalist guerrillas fighting a four-year-old war to topple the white Rhodesian government. Mozambique and Botswana are other guerrilla bases for crossborder infiltration.

Kaunda said British Foreign Secretary David Owen had written to him saying Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith had warned that Rhodesia might strike against nationalist guerrilla camps in Zambia.

Nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo's Zimbabwe African People's Union — ZAPU — is based in Zambia. Guerrillas from the other Rhodesia nationalist movement, Robert Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union — ZANU — are based on Mozambique, which borders Rhodesia to the east.

Kaunda said Owen's letter read: "I have had a message from Ian Smith in which he says he has reliable information that ZAPU plans a major offensive against Rhodesia. He (Smith) might have no alternative but to strike against ZAPU bases in your country."

"He asks me to use my good offices with you to prevent the escalation which he believes could jeopardize our efforts to promote a political settlement."

Kaunda said Owen's letter concluded: "I have replied to Mr. Smith saying that I have passed his remarks for your attention."

With U.S. backing, Owen has been trying to persuade Smith, the nationalists, and Kaunda and other black and white leaders in southern Africa to agree to the convening of a constitutional conference that would lead to black majority government in Rhodesia, where 270,000 whites now rule 6 million blacks.

There was no immediate reaction in Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, to Kaunda's announcement.

But a Rhodesian spokesman said the Zambian leader's remarks were being studied and a statement could be expected later.

Benton Petition Drive Extended

Benton township residents opposed to creation of a pay board that would set salaries for the township's elected officials have announced a one-week extension of a petition drive they hope will force an election on the issue.

Ken Platt, publicity chairman of the Concerned Citizens and Taxpayers of Benton Township, said the committee plans to present the petitions to the township clerk on Monday, May 23, about 3:30 p.m.

He said signatures to date are well over the initial goal set when the drive started April 9, but that no announcement of the total would be made until they are presented to the clerk next week.

Leaders of the drive said earlier 314 signatures were needed.

The petitions call for a referendum by township voters on establishment of a compensation commission which would set salaries for elected officials.

The compensation commission was established by township trustees on March 15 and members of the commission were appointed May 3.

In the past, salaries for township officials had to be approved by voters at the annual meeting, but this would no longer be true under the compensation commission system of setting pay rates.

Platt said field workers in the petition drive should turn in all petitions not later than Friday to one of seven people: Frank Graziano, 205 East Napier avenue; Florence Rachug, 787 Roslyn road; Cecelia Burke, 971 Ramona; Bill Womer, 295 Eloise drive; Fausto LaRatta, 2220 Butler drive; Oliver Rector, 443 Nickerson; and Ken Platt, 1627 Broadway.

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

Options In Cancer Treatment

Fourteen years ago the federal Food and Drug Administration which for over six decades has been in the business of trying to keep adulterated foodstuffs, spurious drugs and dubious pharmaceutical preparations off the market banned the interstate shipment of laetrile.

It is a chemical extract from the pits of bitter almonds, apricots and peaches.

Its only known use is as a presumed deterrent to cancer.

Acknowledging that laetrile is harmless unless administered in overdoses, the FDA acted on the advice of its own experts and cancer researchers outside the government that the substance is useless for cancer treatment.

It issued the ruling pursuant to its statutory duty to stop the sale of substances incapable of performing their advertised curative power.

The ban on its sale extended also to manufacturing laetrile within the U.S. Laetrile presents several advantages to a cancer victim.

It is infinitely more convenient to administer than any of the above recognized methods.

It is free from the debilitating after-effects of chemotherapy and cobalt.

A fourth and the most persuasive advantage is the user's belief in laetrile's efficacy. The victim is convinced this drug is doing the job whereas the curative results from conventional treatment are not positive.

A fifth argument has emerged recently on behalf of laetrile.

Research into cancer seems to be zeroing in on the theory that it is caused by an erratic behavior in the cell's chemistry.

From that postulate comes the simple conclusion that a chemical treatment is the answer to a chemical disturbance. Set a thief to catch a thief, in manner of speaking.

As a consequence, laetrile has flourished in spite of the FDA ban.

Cancer patients by the thousands are going to Mexico, the drug's nearest major source, for its injection or injecting themselves with the material smuggled into this country.

The drug has developed into a political issue.

A federal court has ordered has ordered the FDA to hold public hearings on its ban.

The legislatures in Alaska, Florida and Indiana have legalized laetrile within their borders and the Michigan Senate last week received a bill to legalize the drug on a doctor's prescription.

Though Ralph Nader classifies the FDA as one of the best foot draggers in the government, the agency inclines to shoot first and look next for the target.

Its ban on saccharin as a possible cause of cancer, a ruling based on no trustworthy evidence, is only one of its many fire-before-sighting decisions.

In this instance, however, the private domain of cancer research and the medical profession supports the FDA's position.

Doctors voice the added fear that the resort to laetrile in cancer's early stages will delude the patient into foregoing sounder treatment which can arrest the dread disease.

While the medical profession still has to learn all there is to know about medicine, laetrile at best is the neutral sugar pill a doctor frequently gives a patient who believes if he does not receive a pill he is not being treated for his ailment.

It is an exercise in psychosomatics which the medical people properly feel can be mischievous.

Computers Are Great; So Are Their Mistakes

It was a problem in trying to consolidate its records which caused 150,000 Social Security checks for May to be sent to the wrong addresses, or so says the Treasury Department. Ah, yes, if they had only left the old unconsolidated jumble alone everything would have worked out.

Further explaining it was a human error, not a computer one, which led to the misaddressed computerized mailing, the Treasury seems to be trying to reassure everyone that humans do still run the department. Even though computers have a growing role to play, somewhere behind all those consoles sits a living breathing, error-prone human.

Largely involved in the mixup were checks which were supposed to have gone directly to the recipients' banks for deposit, but instead were sent to their homes. Treasury spokesmen say reverse mixups may have occurred as well, and they can't really be certain only 150,000 checks were involved.

One point about the computer age — mistakes seldom come in small numbers. What was that about the cashless society of the future?

Have Fun Camping But Be Careful

Camping has become a favorite pastime for vacationing North Americans. Long a favorite of the hunter, Boy and Girl Scouts and the summer-loading student, camping has broadened to include the entire family. With some families it has become almost a way of life, complete with clubs, camporees and a chance to meet fellow campers from all parts of the nation.

Depending upon one's penchant for roughing it, camping may consist of anything from curling up in a sleeping bag under the open sky to camping vehicles luxurious enough to make mother not want to go home.

Along with the pleasures of getting away from congested city life for a few days or weeks in the mountains, plains and deserts, the devout camper accepts quite a number of risks. It may be nothing more than a few sore muscles or blisters from chopping firewood, or it could be the added hazards presented by horses, water or fire.

Nothing is lost from the enjoyment of camping by observing elementary safety rules, or remembering that such a radical departure from customary living habits requires getting used to. For the novice particularly — and thousands of them take to the campsites each year — caution is a good ingredient to combine with relaxation and enjoyment of the great outdoors.

SENIOR CITIZENS' CENTER PRAISED

Editor,

While visiting my son and daughter-in-law, Dave and Barbara Scher, who live in Colonia, I renewed an old friendship with Mrs. Helen Kucinsky and learned that she, together with others, was responsible for the opening of the North Berrien Senior Citizens center on East Logan street, Colonia.

Since I am active in senior citizens work in Los Angeles, where we now make our home, I spent an afternoon with Helen in the center and found that the love and warmth shown every member of the center was an almost tangible thing. This was displayed not only by Mrs. Kucinsky but also by the director, Marie Preston, the secretaries, Eleanor Kendall and Beverly Wilming, and all the volunteers.

The center offers many services to the seniors including hot lunches, trips and games. New members are always welcome. We spent an enjoyable afternoon chatting and playing bingo.

With fond memories of our life in Benton Harbor for many years and thanks for the many favors shown me by your excellent paper, I am,

SOCIAL SECURITY IS 'DISAPPOINTING'

Editor,

Please accept the enclosed letter as explanation of my writing to you. We are very disappointed in the way the Social Security board works. I work so we have not lost our home or gone hungry but it makes me ache for people who might find themselves in the same situation without one working.

Mrs. Ocie L. Barnett

To The Director
Dept. of Health,

Social Security
Baltimore, Md. 21241

My husband is fifty-five years of age. He had worked at Superior Steel & Co. in Benton Harbor, Mich., for twenty-nine years. Through all those years no one hesitated to deduct a big chunk of his check for Social Security taxes. On Jan. 2, 1976, he became very ill and has not worked since. He has been classified totally disabled by our doctor and the shop and is already drawing a disability pension of $249.00.

Your office has denied his claim for disability Social Security. We appealed and that was denied. We have filed for a hearing and was told this would take from six months to a year, which means he will have been off work from two to two and one half years before our claim is heard.

It is very disappointing to find you have paid into a fund that won't help you when you need it. As a matter of fact, if you return what we have paid into Social Security, we won't bother you any more.

I'm sure this letter won't do any good but it can't possibly do any harm.

We are sending copies of this letter to our local paper, President Carter's office, Congressman Stockman and Senator Griffin.

A Constitutional Convention?

WASHINGTON — Hypothetical problems seldom command much attention on Capitol Hill, where the political imperatives of today always seem more compelling than the "what ifs" of tomorrow.

But there is a storm gathering out in the states which could break over the Hill with disastrous consequences a year or so from now unless Congress heeds the portents and acts upon them while there is still time.

The threat stems from a drive by anti-abortion forces to get two-thirds of the state legislatures to demand that Congress call a national constitutional convention to draft a "human life amendment" banning abortions.

Eight states have already passed a "con con" resolution, another 15 are considering it, and legislators in a dozen more states say they will introduce the proposal soon.

At this juncture, no one can predict what might happen if the requisite 34 states should actually submit formal convention petitions to Congress, for the simple reason that it has never happened in the nation's history.

Could Congress refuse to call a convention? Could it pass upon the validity of the petitions submitted by the states? How soon would a convention have to be held? Who would pay for it? How would delegates be chosen?

Most importantly, could the convention be restricted to a consideration of the single issue addressed in the original state petitions that triggered its calling, or would it be free to dismantle and reconstruct our entire Constitution?

These are not trivial questions, and they will become even stickier if Congress postpones answering them until the crisis is upon it and passions of the abortion issue — or any other triggering controversy that might arise in the future — distort consideration of crucial procedural matters.

There is no reason to wait, and no need to. A decade ago, Congress took a hard look at all of the questions surrounding the calling of a new constitutional convention and made a start at resolving most of them.

Its review, conducted by former Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the hero of Watergate and a leading constitutional scholar, was prompted by the clamor for a new convention which arose following the Supreme Court's controversial one-man, one-vote ruling on legislative apportionment.

That drive, spearheaded by the late Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, came very close to succeeding. By 1969, when Dirksen's death sapped the momentum of the effort, 32 states — just two short of the requisite two-thirds margin — had petitioned Congress for a constitutional convention.

Both Ervin and the American Bar Assn., which conducted its own study in 1973, ultimately concluded there was no reason to panic at the prospect of a new constitutional convention.

Congress, they decided, did indeed have the power to set ground rules for such a convention and to restrict its scope to the one subject addressed in state petitions.

Ervin drafted legislation to spell out his committee's findings and recommendations, and the Senate twice passed his bill. But the measure died each time in the House Judiciary Committee, so it never became law.

Now, with the anti-abortion drive gathering speed, new legislation patterned after the old Ervin bill will soon be introduced in Congress.

It deserves careful consideration and timely adoption. Sooner or later, 34 states will demand a new convention — if not on the abortion issue, then on some other matter. We need to know, well ahead of time, exactly what the rules would be for such an unprecedented gathering.

A Gag From The LBJ Days

WASHINGTON — HEW Secretary Joseph Califano tells a gag about the old days when he worked in the White House for Lyndon Johnson.

Califano recalls that it was his duty to review the "Rose Garden rubbish" — brief remarks typed in small yellow cards — before they were passed on to the President to deliver before small visiting groups, such as Boy Scouts or nurses. The President never looked at the remarks before he read them publicly.

One day the speech writer got fed up with the routine. The first card said: "We can reduce the military budget and police the world, and I'll tell you how." The second card said: "We can hold unemployment down to 3 per cent and not have inflation, and I'll tell you how." There were a couple others which made similarly extravagant promises.

Finally, the last card said: "Okay, Lyndon, you're on your own now."

Califano survived that, but there's no word on the fate of the speech writer.

Harold Wilens, prominent fund-raiser for 1972 presidential nominee George McGovern and other liberal Democrats, says he approves of the new system of Federal presidential campaign subsidies. The law last year put Wilens and other fat cats out of business, forbidding them to give the large sums that had made them politically influential. Wilens may be alone in his reasonableness, however. Stewart Mott and Max Palevsky and most of the other "big givers" are still outraged.

A rumor has been sweeping the Northeast that a certain kind of bubble gum contains spiders' eggs. Kids have been staying away from it in droves. So Rep. Donald Mitchell (R-N.Y.) sent packages of the gum to all his congressional colleagues, hoping they would all blow bubbles for his constituent company.

Secretary of Commerce Juanita Kreps, whose turf is in danger of being raided from all sides during the Carter reorganization, is hatching her own raid. She wants to put the arts into her department, on the theory that art is really a business for profit like any other. Federal support for the arts now is channeled through an independent agency, the National Endowment for the Arts.

Householders who think they won't be caught if they don't take steps to conserve energy have a surprise coming, at least in the area of home insulation. The Energy Research and Development Administration is experimenting with aerial photographs of neighborhoods in Minnesota which indicate which buildings lose heat through poor insulation.

The aircraft so far have surveyed 25 cities in the state with an instrument called a thermographic scanner, which is sensitive to infrared radiation. Heat shows up in lighter tones. Colder surfaces, such as well-insulated roofs, show as darker tones.

ERDA hopes this will become a model for other states wanting to track down poorly insulated homes.

Lakeshore's Gift To Festival Is Bright And Pretty Queen

This will be a busy week for Miss Blossomtime of 1977, Stevensville's Kathy Lynn Necas. She will be participating in a number of events to be climaxed by the grand floral parade Saturday in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor. Kathy, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Necas of 4601 Cleveland avenue, Stevensville. She has brown hair, green eyes and is 5 feet 5½ inches tall. The Andrews University freshman became the 1977 Miss Blossomtime queen in March when judges selected her from a field of 28 contestants. In this pictorial feature, staff writer-photographer Tom Sawyer presents glimpses of Kathy at home and at school. Kathy's big week ends with parade starting 1 p.m. Saturday in St. Joseph.

ANDREWS STUDIES: During break from classes at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Kathy cracks the books outdoors. A freshman, Kathy is going to school part-time this term because of heavy Blossomtime schedule. She is taking freshman composition, art appreciation and sociology. In background is university administration building.

ARTIST: Kathy, an accomplished artist, plans to put her art talent into career in architecture. Here she puts finishing touches on an oil painting of forest scene in backyard of family's home. She hopes to go on to architectural school after attending Andrews University.

RECREATION: Kathy enjoys round of croquet at Necas home. In addition to croquet, Kathy and family enjoy ping pong and playing catch.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES: Kathy pauses to look at activities schedule on bulletin board in student center on Andrews University campus. Students in background are in line for lunch. Kathy is 1976 graduate of Lakeshore high school, Stevensville. She is first to be selected Blossom queen from Stevensville since competition began in 1924.

HOBBY TIME: Kathy enjoys sewing and says she tries to make most of her own clothing. Her activities as Blossom queen for 1977, however, have curtailed her sewing somewhat. Here she works on part of summer sunsuit outfit. In addition to making her own clothes, Kathy also made dress suit for boyfriend Fred Federan, Jr., who is currently attending Ferris State College.

Weddings.....

Zion Evangelical and Reformed church, St. Joseph, was the setting Saturday, May 14, for the wedding of Kathleen Brady and Scott Karsten. The Rev. C.W. Runkel performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brady, 2902 Roylton Heights road, St. Joseph. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Karsten, 2805 Morton avenue, St. Joseph.

The bride wore a sheer over taffeta gown trimmed with venise lace motifs and designed with a ruffled hemline and chapel train. A lace Juliet cap held her knee length illusion veil and she carried white carnations and orange sweetheart roses.

Mrs. R. Stanton Tilton II was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Rodney Burch, Mrs. Alfred G. Kramer Jr., Miss Karen Karsten, sister of the groom, and Miss Debbie Malone.

Serving as best man was David Johnson. Ushers were Rodney Burch, Mark Muhlhauser, Thomas Brady, brother of the bride, and Arthur Foley.

A reception was held at Melody Hall, Watervliet.

Blossom Events

ART EXHIBIT: St. Joseph Art Center, owned and operated by the St. Joseph Art Association, is presenting a Blossomtime exhibit by the Berrien Art Guild through May 29. The exhibit is open to the public at the center, 600 State street, Tuesdays through Fridays from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. Berrien Art Guild, a group of local working artists, with headquarters at Veterans Memorial hall, St. Joseph, conducts bi-monthly workshops and teaching sessions under the instruction of visiting art teachers. The present exhibit represents the Guild's work in paintings — oils, acrylics and watercolors — sculpture and jewelry. Coordinator for Berrien Art Guild is Lucille Sabin, who is also a St. Joseph Art Association member and past president. Liz Goodgame is Berrien Art Guild president. Among exhibiting artists are Anne Vandermolen, left, and Shima Denton. (Staff photo)

FASHION SHOW: Annual Blossomtime fashion show will be held Wednesday, May 18, at 8 p.m. in Shadowland ballroom, St. Joseph. Miss Blossomtime and her court will model both formal and casual fashions. Left, Cheryl Frazier, Miss South Haven, models a dinner gown with handkerchief hem, narrow shoulder straps and bodice ruffle, from Fishels, South Haven. At right, Debra Hanson, Miss Lawrence, wears an evening outfit with kelly green tunic over straight knit. Tickets for the show may be purchased at Blossomtime, Inc., Benton Harbor, or from area chairmen. (Staff photos)

Honor Friends Of The Arts

Present Medallions

By ARLYS FERRICK
Women's Editor

Friends of the Arts were honored May 11 by the St. Joseph Art association for their many hours of volunteer assistance at the St. Joseph Art Center.

The luncheon was held at Berrien Hills country club to recognize the work Friends of the Arts do in managing and operating the Gallery Shop in the center, acting as exhibit hostesses and operating a Sweet Shop during the center's annual Christmas boutique.

Gold medallions designed and made by Mrs. Del (Lucille) Sabin, a past president of the St. Joseph Art association, were presented to Mrs. R.J. (Kay) Beckmann and Mrs. John (Martha) Latuliere who originated the Gallery Shop in March, 1975, and who have been co-chairmen for the past two years.

The medallion will be presented to all volunteers when they have given 500 hours to the center, according to Mrs. Donald (Carol) Ladrow, president of the association, who presented the awards.

Other awards were presented to Mrs. Thomas (Polly) Adams for 300 or more volunteer hours, Mrs. Valorus (Lillian) Kerry and Mrs. Gene (Heartha) Whitlow, 200 to 300 hours, and to Mrs. Richard (Louise) Maxwell and Miss Gwendolyn Niles for 100 to 150 hours.

Recognition awards were also given to Mrs. Harry (Margaret) Terry, Mrs. Harold (Dorothy) Schwerdt, Miss Mary Louise Kennell, Mrs. Herbert (Marie) Wilto, Mrs. Carleton (Jean) Cron, Mrs. George (Alice) Finch, Mrs. Alberta Yinger, Mrs. John (Lorraine) Cross, Mrs. William (Alice) Curver, and Mrs. Rocco (Diane) Robert.

Friends of the Arts are an independent but affiliated group comprised primarily of non-members of the St. Joseph Art association. Current chairman is Mrs. Colin (Kay) Kennedy. Anyone wishing to become a Friend of the Art, may call the center, 600 State street, St. Joseph.

The St. Joseph Art Center began its fourth year of operation in January. Since the St. Joseph Art association purchased the stately old home at 600 State street in St. Joseph, hundreds of visitors have viewed exhibits, taken part in classes, and admired the work the association has done in the building.

The association itself was formed as the result of a group of artists, students, and professionals staging an outdoor sale of original art in Lake Front park, St. Joseph in 1962.

To establish continuity in planning the art fair — which since has attracted thousands of visitors each July — and also broaden its aims, the committee organized formally in January of 1964 as the St. Joseph Art association. Its current membership is composed of both artists and members of the community who are interested in advancing art in the area.

At the awards luncheon, entertainment was provided by the Trio Americana — Kathy Williamson, Mary Lou Oggenorth, and Myrth Kreiners with Esther Shoemaker, as accompanist.

RECOGNITION: Friends of the Arts who assist the St. Joseph Art association in maintaining the St. Joseph Art Center at 600 State street, St. Joseph, were honored at a luncheon at Berrien Hills country club when awards for volunteer hours were presented. Among those recognized were, from left, seated Mrs. Thomas (Polly) Adams with Mrs. Colin (Kay) Kennedy, chairman of the Friends of the Arts who presented the service awards, and from left, standing, Mrs. Valorus (Lillian) Kerry and Mrs. Gene (Heartha) Whitlow. Bridge Reservations Due office, St. Joseph, until Thursday, May 19, according to Mr. Al (Lillian) Dubinsky, chairman of the event.

Reservations for the second annual YWCA Bridge Benefit will be accepted at the YWCA

The benefit will be held at the Ramada Inn, Benton Harbor, Monday, May 23, beginning at 9 a.m.

A donation of $7.50 is all inclusive and proceeds will go to the general operating budget of the YWCA.

Prizes, art work donated by local artists, will be on display throughout the day of the benefit. Members of the committee are Mrs. John (Cece) Schrieber, Mrs. James (Claire) Rusplum, Mrs. Robert (Lois) Jones, Mrs. Ronald (Joy) Wilgung, Mrs. Jerry (Jan) Reimann, and Mrs. Lewis (Fran) Filstrup. The YWCA is a participating member of Blossomland United Way.

Traveling Correspondent

Another tip for travel correspondence. Type the names and addresses of persons you will want to send postcards or letters to on gummed folder labels which come in strips, perforated about one inch apart.

Fold the labels in strips and carry in your purse. When you have written the card or letter all you will have to do is tear off a label, paste it on the card or letter, stamp, and mail.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Records Should Be Sealed

Dear Ann: As a woman who gave up a child for adoption, may I express my views?

Several people are pressing for a change in legislation that would give adoptees access to their birth records. If such legislation is passed (and I hope it isn't) it must NOT be restrictive.

Several years ago, when I gave up my child for adoption, they promised me that my records would remain sealed forever — to EVERYONE (including the child).

Most natural parents do not want a child of the past to suddenly enter their lives. If my child ever comes into MY life, I will sue everyone involved.

Please advise adoptees that unexpected exposure of the past can cause a great deal of damage, heartache and even break up an otherwise good marriage. — Sealed Forever (1 Hope)

Dear Sealed: I always have taken the position that adoption records should remain sealed — forever — to everyone — and I shall continue to hold that line, in spite of mounting pressure from the opposition.

I tell all adoptees who write to me, "Your REAL parents are the people who raised you. Don't go poking around. You may regret it." Ma Manners Passe?

Dear Ann Landers: I am a telephone solicitor. My job isn't the best way to get to know the public. We phone people morning, noon and night and I realize we could get on a person's nerves, but why don't THEY realize that they can get on our nerves, too?

When I was a kid, I remember my mother teaching us manners. I'm only 20 years old and it seems like manners are rapidly going out of style.

We talk to at least a hundred people a day. Would you believe that 50 per cent of the time we end up getting a receiver slammed in our ear? Not so much as a "No, thank you" or a "Goodbye." We just end up talking to ourselves.

Please print this letter to let people know there's a human being on the — Other End Of The Line

Dear O.E.L.: Here's your letter — and I hope it helps. "No, thank you" takes just a second to say. How about it, folks?

Unmentionable

Dear Ann Landers: My husband died of lung cancer last year. He was a heavy smoker and the doctor said his cancer was caused by cigarettes.

ANN LANDERS

I am writing to ask why newspapers don't say "cancer" in the obituary? I see "heart attack" often, but cancer is rarely mentioned.

My husband never missed reading the death notices. I'm sure if he had seen "lung cancer" in the obituaries five or ten times he would have given up cigarettes long before he did. (He stopped smoking in 1970, but the doctor said it was too late.)

Please answer in the paper. It might give some of those editors an idea. Thank you. — Stockton, Calif.

Dear Stock: Most newspapers follow the wishes of the next of kin in specifying the cause of death.

I am not at all sure a nicotine addict would quit smoking if he read "Mr. So-And-So died of lung cancer." Most people never think it will happen to them. It's always "the other fellow."

Are drugs O.K. if you learn how to control them? Can they be of help? The answers are in Ann Landers' new booklet, "Straight Dope on Drugs." For each booklet ordered, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (24 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11993, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Parents' Job

I was autographing books at one of those little rattan tables in the book department of a Midwest department store when I found myself looking into the saddest eyes I had ever seen.

"The doctor wanted me to buy something that would make me laugh," she said.

I hesitated about signing the book. It would have taken corrective surgery to make that woman laugh. "Is it a big problem?" I asked. (The whole line was eavesdropping.)

"Yes. My daughter is getting married."

The line cheered.

"Is she 12 or something?"

"She's 24," said the woman biting her lip. "And he's a wonderful man. It's just that she could have stayed home a few more years."

The woman behind her looked wistful. "We've moved three times and our son keeps finding us. Some women have all the luck."

Isn't it curious how some mothers don't know when they've done a good job — or when it's basically finished? They figure the longer the kids hang around, the better parents they are. I guess it all depends on how you regard children in the first place. How do you regard yours?

Are they like an appliance? The more you have the more status you command? They're under warranty to perform at your whim for the first 18 years, then when they start costing money, you get rid of them?

Are they like a used car? You maintain it for years and when you're ready to sell it to someone else, you feel a great responsibility to keep it running or it reflects on you? (That's why some parents never let their children marry good friends.)

Finally they are airborne, but they need more string and you keep letting it out and with each twist of the ball of twine, there is a sadness that goes with the joy because the kite becomes more distant and somehow you know that it won't be long before that beautiful creature will snap the lifeline that bound you together and soar as it was meant to soar — free and alone.

Only then do you know that you did your job.

Jim: "Last week we discussed safety plays. Let's talk about something almost the same this week."

Oswald: "Best plays! Sometimes there may be two safety plays at your disposal as declarer. In such cases you want to use the one that gives you the best chance for an extra trick."

Jim: "South needs four clubs to make his slam. He has no worries or problems except if one opponent holds four or five to the queen-jack. If East holds them South will go down; if West holds them there are two safety plays available."

Oswald: "The first can be found in old books on play. It is to play dummy's ace and then to come to the South hand in order to lead the nine and let it ride. This leads to an extra trick if East holds the singleton queen or jack."

Jim: "The modern play is equally safe. It is to run the nine first. If it loses to an honor, play the ace next. This play only produces four tricks if East holds the singleton queen or jack, but it produces all five if East holds one or two small clubs. Hence, it is preferable."

What is selenium? Why is it being touted in pulp magazines as being important to health? The food faddists at my college are constantly talking about selenium. — Mr. N.J., Mich.

Dear Mr. J.:

Selenium is a chemical element that resembles sulfur. The National Research Council's Committee on Nutritional Misinformation definitely states, "No evidence of selenium deficiency has been found in Americans and there is NO justification at this time for use of selenium supplements by the general population."

Selenium is found chiefly in meats, seafood, mushrooms, garlic and asparagus. A well-balanced diet will supply the daily selenium requirements for an average adult. The Council very specifically warns that brittleness of the fingernails, fatigue, irritability and a garlic odor on the breath can be caused by too much selenium.

It is always wise to check on the scientific validity of new food fads. Sometimes they can do more harm than good.

Are vibrating machines of any value for reducing? I'm tempted to buy one. — Mrs. G.B., N.C.

Dear Mrs. B.:

These machines have little or no value for losing weight. The gullible public is tempted, as you are, to purchase such a machine because they won't confront their inability to stick to a diet.

Vibrating machines are excellent for giving added tone and support to body muscles. They may make them firm and perhaps even take inches off the waist and hips. They are not, however, a substitute for the prime rule in losing weight. That is, when one eats or drinks more calories than the body requires for fuel, a weight gain is inevitable. With or without a vibrating machine, if you consume fewer calories than you need daily for body fuel, you will lose weight.

You may team up in a commercial venture this year with someone you've previously known only socially. This could be based on an unusual product or idea.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Unlike yesterday, your material perception is really keen today. If you have an idea that could better you, by all means try it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Charitable impulses should be heeded today. They could take a unique twist. You could actually be the recipient rather than the giver.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An occasion could arise today where you could lend moral support to one you're fond of. Your backing could give him needed confidence.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If a friend does something outstanding today, be sincere and glowing in your praise. What you say will not soon be forgotten.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You do things with your customary flair and flourish today, but no one will be offended. You perform so well others will be envious.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your ideas are artistic and creative today — and could also be moneymakers. Don't sit on your hands and do nothing with them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Others are willing to give you things today because they sense, if the rules were reversed, you'd do the same for them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) Bonds with a new and valuable ally may be forged today. You might be able to do things with this person to fatten your bank-book.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Conditions are now ripe to launch that imaginative undertaking you've been contemplating. Waste no more time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A secret admirer who has long looked at you from afar may today let you know his or her true feelings. It would come about subtly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Invite to your home one to whom you owe a social obligation, rather than taking that person out. He or she will be more flattered.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Play it cool today if something is in the offing that spells promotion or more pay. The less assertive you are, the better you'll fare.

Grapes, Medicinal Value

Consumers will be interested to know that the grape juice the family loves so much may actually have a medicinal value.

According to recent studies by Canadian microbiologists, grapes and grape products may kill certain kinds of viruses that cause intestinal problems and cold sores. These antiviral properties of grape juice were reported after a series of laboratory tests on a variety of grapes including the Concord blue, from which the popular purple grape juice is made. Although it's too soon to say how these findings can be applied to human health, experts are optimistic because the viruses used in the experiments with grape juice are ones that generally plague human beings.

It is believed that the antiviral properties of grapes and grape products are found in a group of chemicals called phenol compounds and are located mainly in the skins and seeds of the grapes, rather than the pulp. The skin — which gives purple grape juice its distinctive color — is used in the production of concord grape products.

Women Seen Shunning Duty At Sea

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — "The comfort - convenience - glamour - oriented young American woman" will shun naval service if she is required to go to sea, says a former top Navy woman officer.

Retired Capt. Robin L. Quigley says she believes "we would be hard put to attract more than a relative handful of our young women into the Navy if sea duty ... is made mandatory."

As for those already in uniform, Capt. Quigley says her experience as assistant chief of Naval personnel for women in 1971-1973 "tells me that there would be only minuscule numbers" who would be prepared to accept continued service under such conditions.

The Navy recently began preparing legislation to guarantee Navy women equal treatment by changing the law that now bars women from sea duty. It did so after six Navy enlisted women and officers filed suit claiming the current restrictions infringe their constitutional rights.

But Capt. Quigley makes it clear she believes "the uncomfortable, Spartan, unrelieved and physically demanding life" at sea may be tolerable to women of other societies — but not for American women.

"It seems to me most unlikely that the comfort - convenience - glamour - oriented young American woman would view such a life as her golden opportunity," Capt. Quigley writes in the Navy League's publication "Seapowers."

And yet, Capt. Quigley suggests that the principal of equality dictates that Navy women, like Navy men, should be subject to being ordered to sea rather than being given a choice in the matter.

This would require a change in the law that now bars assignment of women to Navy vessels other than hospital ships and transports. In effect, Navy women have been beached since 1975 when the last hospital ship was retired.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown said last week that the Pentagon leadership probably has been too restrictive in defining what constitutes the kind of combat-related assignments prohibited to women.

"We're looking at that (the law) again to see whether the definition and the policy can be modified so as to allow women to play a larger part across a broader spectrum of activities," Brown said.

But Capt. Quigley obviously has no regrets that she could not serve aboard ship.

Flint Man Claims Discovery Of 19-Inch 'Big Foot' Footprint

LAKE ANN, Mich. (AP) — A Flint man says he has found a 19-inch footprint of the legendary "Big Foot" near this Benzie County village. Wayne King made a plaster cast of the impression, which is 10 inches wide and 4 inches deep.

He said he made his "fantastic find" Saturday about 300 yards from the point where he photographed a similar 17-inch footprint last month. Six persons accompanied King on the search mission over the weekend. "There's definitely something in Benzie County and it's confirmed by these prints," King said.

He theorized that the different sized tracks were left by a male and female Bigfoot — ape-like creatures which King says probably weigh about 800 pounds.

The sheriff of Benzie County has denied that the creatures exist in his area and suggested the tracks are from bears. King said he plans to return to the area within two weeks with a tranquilizer gun to search for the animals in the Traverse City area. He said he does not want to kill them, but wants to "push for legislation that would protect the creatures."

King said Saturday's footprint was found among several other heavy tracks on a ridge near the Platte River. "We don't want to make anyone afraid, as it hasn't harmed anyone,"

King said. But he said he believed Bigfoot could be carnivorous. King, an auto worker, runs the Michigan Bigfoot Information Center from the basement of his Flint home.

Tax Cut Bill Heading For House Okay

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is completing work on a multibillion-dollar tax bill that would cut taxes an average of $111 a year for 46 million taxpayers, while raising taxes for two million single workers.

The bill, latest in a series of tax cuts that began in 1975, headed for final approval in the House today. Final Senate approval also is expected early this week and President Carter is likely to sign it into law before the end of the month.

The new annual tax cut will be $2.2 billion for individuals and $2.5 billion for companies, plus another continuation of multibillion-dollar cuts Congress has approved on a temporary basis since 1975.

In all, between now and the end of the 1979 budget year, the bill will mean a $34.1-billion cut in revenue for the federal treasury.

The bill makes permanent changes in standard deductions, to be reflected in payroll tax withholding adjustments beginning June 1.

The tax bill heads a congressional agenda this week that includes action on President Carter's energy program, a $36-billion military hardware bill and a $3.2-billion U.S. military aid bill.

The Senate is to vote on creation of Carter's proposed Department of Energy and a key issue will be how much power to give its Cabinet director to set oil and natural gas prices.

The Senate also is to vote on a $30-billion defense authorization bill, which among other things includes $81.6 million for a new nuclear aircraft carrier just in case Carter and Congress reverse their decisions not to build it.

The House is to vote on a $3.2-billion U.S. military aid bill with a $15 million cut in aid to Zaire. Supporters of the cut in aid to Zaire say the move is a signal to Carter and to African nations that Congress wants no military involvement on that continent.

The bill also includes a $100-million refund war rehabilitation fund for black-ruled countries in South Africa, including Angola when and if U.S. diplomatic relations are restored with that country.

The tax bill cuts taxes for 46 million people, raising them for two million. It replaces a variable standard deduction with two figures: $2,200 for singles and $3,200 for those filing joint returns.

The 46 million people who file joint returns using the standard deductions didn't get that much before and the two million single people got more, up to $2,400. For those who file joint returns, that will mean paying an average of $111 a year less in taxes. For singles, it will mean an average of $52 more.

The change in withholding rates is to be implemented beginning June 1. The Internal Revenue Service said it expects to get new withholding tables to employers in time to start the reductions by then.

The business tax cut is aimed at creating jobs. Employers get a tax savings of between $630 and $1,206 per new worker, up to $100,000, when they enlarge work forces by 2 per cent over the previous year.

The bill also will simplify the tax-filing for most taxpayers. Those who take standard deductions will be able to look up their tax on a new table, reducing the number of steps in the computation from eight to two. For itemizing, steps would be cut from eight to six.

Martin-Merman Show Is Smash

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway was sweet, hot and happy. Mary Martin, the sweet, and Ethel Merman, the hot, put on a two-woman show Sunday night at the Broadway Theater for a celebrity-filled audience, the happy, who paid up to $500 per ticket. The one-time event was a benefit for the theater and music collection of the Museum of the City of New York.

Miss Martin and Miss Merman, who each starred in some of Broadway's best hit musicals, started their show in costumes from two of their huge hits, "South Pacific" and "Gypsy," and they ended it with a duet of "There's No Business Like Show Business."

They also came down identical staircases, dressed in identical red, to the strains of "Hello, Dolly!", a show in which they both have starred.

The men singing "It's so nice to have you back where you belong," were a group of Broadway leading men, among them Yul Brynner, Burgess Meredith, Joel Grey, George Rose, dancer Peter Gennaro, composer Jules Stein and Miss Martin's son, actor Larry Hag-man.

All evening, the two women kept the audience gasping at how good their voices still are and how marvelously they dance — and still have breath to sing. Miss Martin claims she's 64, not the 63 listed in "Who's Who," and Miss Merman claims she's 65, not the listed 68. On Sunday, they were both younger than springtime.

High point of it all for this listener was Miss Merman's singing "Blow, Gabriel, Blow," bright and surely better than any other singer alive could do it. Earlier, she had sung a medley of "I Got Rhythm," "Anything Goes," "Small World, Isn't It?" and "Everything's Coming Up Roses" that made one wonder if she could top it.

But her voice got even stronger as the evening went on and she kept topping everything she did. She also shared an early memory of being taken to meet George Gershwin by a producer who heard her sing at a Brooklyn movie theater. "I was in awe of him and I was in awe of his apartment. I was still living at home with my parents."

Nurses' Trial Resumes

DETROIT (AP) — Testimony today in the trial of two Filipino nurses accused of murdering two patients at a Veterans Administration hospital will focus on the time five patients stopped breathing in little more than an hour.

The two defendants — Filipina Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, and Leonora Perez, 32, of Ann Arbor — worked together in the hospital's intensive care ward where several patients died from breathing failures.

They deny the government's charges they murdered two of the patients, poisoned seven and conspired to inject Pavulon, a powerful muscle-relaxant drug, into patients through intravenous tubes.

The trial is at its halfway point after 30 days of testimony and legal argument. The prosecution has said it will call witnesses to tell what happened on Aug. 15, 1975, when five patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital at Ann Arbor were stricken with breathing paralysis within 70 minutes.

Although an epidemic of breathing failures had swept the ward in July, it was not until the five cases occurred on Aug. 15 that doctors began to be suspicious of a possible criminal case.

The physicians made several tests that had not been tried before and were convinced at least two men had been given a paralyzing drug that had not been prescribed.

Later that night, the FBI was summoned to the federal facility, and a 10-month investigation was launched.

More than 40 witnesses — doctors, nurses, laboratory researchers and relatives of the victims — are expected to be called to testify about the Aug. 15 outbreak.

The trial was in recess last week to allow U.S. District Court Judge Philip Pratt to attend a judicial conference.

Congress Probes Delay In Ordering 'Tris' Ban

By BETTY ANNE WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Consumer Product Safety Commission is preparing to explain to Congress why it took so long to impose a limited ban on Tris, a suspected cancer-causing chemical.

The five commissioners were asked to appear today before a House commerce subcommittee to explain why sales of Tris-treated children's sleepwear were permitted for a year after the commission was told the chemical causes cell mutations and could lead to birth defects. Members of the oversight and investigations subcommittee also indicated they want to learn why the commissioners are "dragging their feet," as one aide put it, in establishing premarket testing standards for all toxic substances.

Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., who heads the subcommittee, was one of the congressional sponsors of legislation that set up the commission.

Until the ban, children's sleepwear was treated with Tris to make it meet federal flame retardant standards. The commission issued a ban on the sale of Tris-treated children's sleepwear April 8. At the same time, the agency ordered manufacturers to repurchase unwashed garments treated with Tris.

The manufacturers challenged the repurchase order and a federal district court judge ordered yarn, fabric and chemical manufacturers to share the repurchasing costs. A hearing on a further appeal is set for Wednesday.

Another House subcommittee has been looking into the economic impact the ban is having on small businesses. The subcommittee on antitrust, consumers and employment will question members of the commission and chemical manufacturers on Thursday.

The controversy surrounding Tris came to public attention when the Environmental Defense Fund petitioned the commission March 24, 1976, asking that sleepwear treated with Tris carry a warning label.

The lobbying group was concerned about tests that showed Tris could be absorbed through the skin, is poisonous to the nervous system and is a suspected carcinogen, or cancer-causing agent. Tris also was found to be toxic to fish at levels typically found in wash water.

But the commission declined to take action against the chemical until there was conclusive evidence that it caused cancer. The National Cancer Institute provided this evidence Feb. 4, 1977, when it released findings that Tris caused cancer of the stomach, kidney, liver and lung in mice and cancer of the kidney in rats.

The commerce subcommittee already has heard from scientists who say the washing may not reduce the hazards of Tris and who questioned whether Tris substitutes being considered are any less dangerous.

The members also questioned closely the major manufacturer of the chemical and criticized the company for its own failure to issue a warning about the hazards of Tris.

Fire May Aid Rare Warblers

ROSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — A forest fire that threatened to engulf the prime nesting area of the rare Kirtland's warbler, says the state Department of Natural Resources.

The blaze was brought under control Saturday by DNR firefighters, assisted by volunteer fire crews from four communities.

A DNR official said the fire, which consumed 250 acres, caused some damage to a section of the nesting area for the Kirtland's warbler, an endangered species.

However, he said, the birds have not returned to the area from their winter migration in the Bahamas, and the blaze may have improved the area. The warblers nest exclusively in stands of jack pine, a tree which springs up in burned areas.

Ogemaw County officials said the fire began in an old timber slash area in Foster Township, six miles east of Kirtland Community College. A slash is an area where trees have been cut but branches and stumps remain.

'I HAVE NO HARD FEELINGS ...'

Hostage Won't Press Charges

By EARNI YOUNG
Associated Press Writer
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 22-year-old mother held hostage with her children for nearly 26 hours says she spent the time doing housework before escaping from her captor.

Carla Blair said she was not afraid during the ordeal that ended Saturday evening. She also said she would not press charges against the man who took her captive.

Archie Reginald Nelson, 29, the alleged bank robber who invaded her home, faces possible charges of federal bank robbery, state kidnaping and extortion, authorities said. "He didn't harm me and my children and, as for pressing charges ... I feel he'll do enough time for the bank robbery. I have no hard feelings against him," she said Sunday in an interview at her mother's home.

Authorities said Nelson entered Miss Blair's apartment Friday afternoon shortly after he fled the Lincoln Knolls branch of the Dollar Savings and Trust Co. He was armed and wearing a mask.

Miss Blair said he forced her son Isaac, 4, and a friend, Emmett Moore, also 4, who were playing outside the apartment, to open the door.

"I was upstairs sewing when I heard a man talking to my boy downstairs," said the woman, who lives alone with her two children.

Miss Blair said she went downstairs and found Nelson with the two boys. Her 18-month-old daughter Danielle was upstairs.

"I asked him why he was here and he told me, 'I don't want to hurt anybody. I just robbed a bank and I need to stay here awhile.'"

When police arrived, Nelson fired one shot down the stairs — the only gunfire during the siege. No one was hurt.

About 2:30 a.m., after negotiating with FBI agents, Nelson released the Moore boy for

Nelson, who gave police several false names, demanded a Cadillac driven by two FBI agents clad only in their undershorts to drive him to safety. Later he asked for money and a jet, then more money.

"He appeared confused and just wondering how he was going to get out of there," said Miss Blair, an unemployed seamstress.

She said Nelson kept his two guns in his pockets most of the time and allowed her to move about the apartment. "I cleaned up, washed up and did some other housework."

When an opportunity arose Saturday afternoon, she threw her two children from a bedroom window into the arms of FBI agents.

"He was out in the hall and I saw the chance to get my kids out," she said.

Miss Blair said Nelson began digging a hole through a wall in one of the bedrooms as a possible avenue of escape into the next apartment. It was while he was digging that Miss Blair made her own escape.

"I was standing in the hall eating," she said. "I just decided I was going ... and ran down the stairs" and out the front door.

Five minutes later, Nelson surrendered, throwing his two pistols down the stairs.

Man Who Cut Out Frills At U. Of Chicago Dies

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Robert Maynard Hutchins, a legendary American educator who headed the University of Chicago when only 30 and angered alumni by dropping football as an unnecessary frill, has died of a kidney ailment. He was 78.

Doctors said the controversial educator had a relapse about week ago after surgery in March for kidney trouble at the Santa Barbara Cottage Hospital. He died late Saturday.

A memorial service is scheduled Friday at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, which Hutchins founded here nearly 20 years ago. Another service is scheduled at the University of Chicago June 17.

Hutchins graduated magna cum laude from Yale Law School at age 26 and two years later was dean of the school. He was regarded as a boy wonder when named president of the University of Chicago at 30.

Hutchins jolted alumni and students when he abolished football. He argued that "football, fraternities and fun were designed to make a college education palatable to those who shouldn't be there."

He also allowed students to enter the university after two years of high school, ended compulsory class attendance and granted degrees after two years to students who could pass a comprehensive test.

He responded to widespread criticism by saying, "About all we can say of American education is that it's a colossal housing project designed to keep young people out of worse places until they can go to work."

He brought atomic bomb researchers to the campus during World War II, and the first controlled nuclear reaction was achieved Dec. 2, 1942, in a secret laboratory under the stands at the school's athletic field.

Hutchins' later years were spent as president of his brainchild, the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions. The center had a resident staff of scholars who held daily discussions of social problems.

The 6-foot-4 Hutchins directed the discussions, maintaining order by tapping with a spoon on a cup whenever the conversation wandered from the central theme. The talks were taped and published as pamphlets.

Hutchins kept the center going with annual donations from more than 450 industrialists and with dues from its 50,000 members nationwide. But the center's financial problems have grown in recent years, and it laid off about 30 of its 70 employees in 1973.

Hutchins is survived by his second wife, Vesta Sutton Orlick, and four daughters, three of whom are from his first marriage. He divorced his first wife in 1948.

Burial at Santa Barbara Cemetery will be private.

Pain Should Be Investigated Rather Than Tolerated

Many people wouldn't think of letting their car go beyond 3,000 miles without an oil change. They check every strange noise and rattle.

But when it comes to themselves, a recurring headache or back pain are things they'll put off taking care of "until tomorrow" as they seek temporary relief in the medicine cabinet.

"What's your answer to pain?" asks Dr. Ackerman, of the Ackerman Chiropractic Center. "Pills, heat rubs, or just plain old suffering with it?"

"All types of pain are a warning that something is wrong. Aspirin and self-treaters block the pain waves between the brain and the area sending out the signals. But what happens when it wears off and the pain returns?"

In these times of instant breakfast, jet travel, and fast relief, maybe you're tempted to "take another aspirin." Is that what you want - pain that's here today and gone tomorrow? The good Doctor asks, "When your leg 'falls asleep,' the nerves have been squeezed so they can't function," he explains. "As you 'wake it up' by slapping or rubbing it, you can feel 'pins and needles' as nerve energy again 'reaches the area. Without the nerves, you had no feeling because the nerve's messages weren't getting to the brain."

The most critical place for nerve interference is in the spine. From there, they branch out to serve every area and vital organ of the body.

"Normally, the nerve trunks are protected by the vertebrae surrounding them," Dr. Ackerman continues. "But even a slight dislocation of the vertebrae will pinch the nerves, cutting off and distorting their signals to the entire body. When this happens, proper functioning of the appendages and vital organs is impossible."

"The pain which often results is a warning that something is wrong. If nerve interference is the problem, then it's a problem for Chiropractic. Eliminate the cause of the pain, and the pain will take care of itself."

Isn't it about time you looked for the cause of your pain and sought effective treatment?

You owe it to yourself to live a full, active life again. Dr. Ackerman maintains Chiropractic offices at 3818 Red Arrow Highway, St. Joseph (telephone 429-1700) (C) ARS 1977

ROBERT HUTCHINS
Famed Educator Dead

Nixon Turns To Viet War

NEW YORK (AP) — In his next nationally televised interview, former President Richard M. Nixon reportedly claims that alleged abuses of presidential power were necessary to help end the war in Vietnam, according to Newsweek magazine.

The magazine says Nixon first thought the war could be ended with the help of Soviet influence. But when that plan fell through, Nixon says, he felt it was necessary to take extraordinary steps at home to gain a more favorable withdrawal from Vietnam.

Newsweek, in its current issue, quoted Nixon as saying: "I knew that to get the enemy to take us seriously abroad, I had to have enough support at home."

"They could not feel that they could win in Washington what they could not get on the battlefield," Nixon was quoted as telling interviewer David Frost.

Newsweek said Nixon, in the interview to be broadcast Thursday, admits he knew of the existence of a White House "enemies list" and the "plumbers unit," which he says was waging a political war on dissent.

IRA Says It Executed British Army Captain

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Irish Republican army guerrillas said today they had "executed" a British army captain abducted Saturday night in Northern Ireland.

"We arrested him on Saturday night and executed him after interrogation," the IRA's 1st Battalion in South Armagh County said in a statement.

The IRA, which is fighting to end British rule in the province, claimed that the officer, Capt. Robert Lawrence Nairac, 29, of the elite Grenadier Guards regiment, was working with the Strategic Air Service — SAS — the elite British unit combating terrorism.

An army spokesman said: "We have only just heard the news and are still looking into it. Despite what the statement said, the captain was definitely not an SAS man."

The army said the young captain's body had not been found.

Nairac was abducted by two men after a struggle in a parking lot outside the Three Steps Tavern in Drumtree, near the border with the Irish Republic in South Armagh, the territory known to security forces as "bandit country."

The army said Nairac, who worked in intelligence and was a liaison officer between the army and local police, was on duty at the time but dressed in civilian clothes.

The South Armagh border area was alive with troops and police searching for the kidnapped officer. Helicopters swooped low over the countryside while vehicles on all roads were stopped and searched.

Police in the neighboring Irish Republic confirmed that they were assisting in the search for Nairac, bachelor son of an English eye surgeon.

Before the IRA statement, the archbishop of Westminster, Basil Cardinal Hume, head of the Roman Catholic Church in England and Wales, appealed to the kidnappers to release the officer.

Cardinal Hume was once abbot of a seminary where Nairac went to school. "This is a terrible blow," the church leader said.

Guerrilla activity by the mostly Catholic IRA had been slack in the past two weeks while Protestant extremists tried to paralyze Ulster with a general strike.

The strikers had argued that Britain was not taking tough enough action against IRA guerrillas.

The strike fizzled out on Friday after most of the one-million Protestant majority in the turbulent province ignored the strike call.

If confirmed, the death of Nairac will increase to 267 the number of British soldiers killed in Northern Ireland since civil strife erupted in the province in August 1969. Seven soldiers have been murdered this year.

The over-all death toll in the eight-year sectarian conflict will go to 1,732.

Owosso Sewage Plant Upheld

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has upheld a decision to build a sewage treatment plant in Owosso. A group of citizens in Shiawassee County who opposed the plan had sued the federal Environmental Protection Agency and the state Department of Natural Resources because they approved grants to build the plant. The opponents wanted landfill disposal of wastes instead. The EPA and DNR settled on the plant after reviewing various methods of waste treatment. The appellate court upheld a lower court ruling that the agencies had considered all "significant environmental issues" in choosing a sewage treatment method.

Two Teenagers Drown

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Two 18-year-old Detroit men have drowned in Stony Creek at Metro Park in Macomb County's Washington Township. The victims were identified as Howard Watson and Dwayne Fox. Witnesses told deputies they saw the two men sliding down a dam Sunday and then go underneath the water. Their bodies were pulled from the creek a short time later.

Michigan Man Convicted

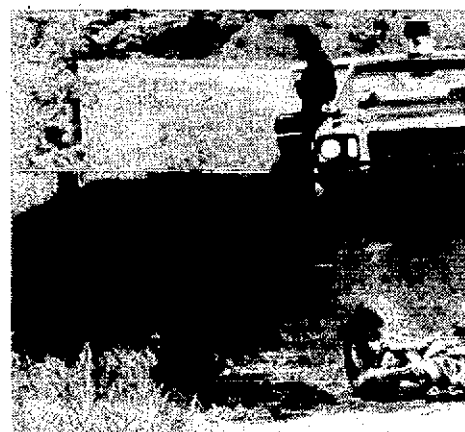

JEFFERSON, Wis. (AP) — Eduardo Barrera, 23, of Adrian, Mich., has been convicted in Jefferson County Court on charges stemming from the fatal shooting of a Beaver Dam woman last October. Barrera was found guilty of aiding and abetting first degree murder and armed robbery in the death of liquor store owner Janice Buffie. Sentencing was scheduled for June 20. Barrera's brother, Reyes Barrera of Adrian, was sentenced earlier, and a third man, Frederico Garcia, is awaiting trial on an armed robbery charge.

Camaros, Novas Recalled

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. has recalled an estimated 15,000 Chevrolet Camaro and Nova passenger cars because of possibly defective rally wheels. Chevrolet said Friday about 1,750 cars built between Feb. 2 and March 2 might have the defect, which could cause the center section of the wheels to separate from the wheel rim resulting in a loss of directional control. All potentially affected vehicles will be inspected and new wheels installed as necessary, with the inspection and correction charges paid by the auto firm.

AMC Ad Fraud Charged

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan attorney general's office says it will investigate allegations a national advertisement for American Motors Corp. is deceptive and violates the state's consumer protection law. The city of Detroit's consumers affairs department says the ad fraudulently assures buyers of small AMC cars they would qualify for a rebate on gas-saving cars. The Carter administration has proposed such a program. An attorney in the Michigan attorney general's office said the problem is that AMC is telling consumers they will get a rebate but Congress has not approved a rebate.

Swans Killed, Eggs Destroyed At LMC

Vandals killed two young swans at Lake Michigan college over the weekend and broke nine swan eggs which were within 5 to 6 days of hatching, college official said today.

Robert Van Arkel, director of buildings and grounds, said two swan eggs remained undamaged in one nest and the mother swan was still nesting on them. He said the value of the dead cygnets (baby swans) and eggs was about $3,000.

Van Arkel said the college had been attempting to build up a swan flock in the area by having the swans nest on the college grounds near the lake areas. He noted students have been very cooperative in avoiding the swan nests and were protective of them.

He said one swan nest was Berrien Escapee Held In Chicago Escapes Again!

An escapee from the Berrien county jail captured in Chicago May 11 escaped from the custody of a Cook county, Ill., sheriff's deputy yesterday.

James Watson, 24, formerly of Benton Harbor, disappeared from a waiting room at the Cook county hospital in Chicago about 3 a.m. Sunday, according to Officer John Sytsma of the Cook county sheriff's department.

Watson had been taken to the hospital to be X-rayed after he complained of pains. Sytsma said.

He said an escort officer was supposed to have been with Watson in the waiting room. An investigation is now underway to determine what happened, he said.

Watson was being held by Cook county authorities pending extradition proceedings to Berrien county where he and three other men escaped from the Berrien county jail April 23 by cutting a hole through a metal screen covering a second floor window.

Two of the other escapees were recaptured and a third, Oliver Hardy, Kankakee, Ill., is still at large.

It was the second time Watson escaped custody in Berrien county. Watson escaped from an unguarded District courtroom last Sept. 3 and was recaptured Jan. 24 in Chicago by the FBI.

Watson is also being sought by Pennsylvania authorities for allegedly escaping from prison, according to Randy Arnt, chief investigator for the Berrien county Prosecutor's office. Watson was serving a six year sentence in Pennsylvania, according to Arnt.

In Berrien county, Watson was facing charges of attempted larceny in building and unlaw-

Yale Has Scroll For Jerry Ford

By DAN HALL, Associated Press Writer NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Yale University, where Gerald Ford studied law, awarded the former president an honorary degree today and praised him for the "house cleaning" he led after the nation's Watergate scandals.

Ford's citation stated: "It took some doing to get the house clean in time for the birthday party. Somehow you managed to get us ready to celebrate. Like the tall ships, you were a symbol of stately and cheerful serenity. You retrieved your countrymen from cynical self-scorch and put America back upon a helpful, upward path."

Ford was graduated from Yale Law School in 1941. It was his second visit to the campus in the nearly four months since he left the White House.

He and 12 others were honored at the university's 276th commencement.

Pair Facing Recall Vote

HARRISON, Mich. (AP) — Two Grant Township trustees face recall on misfeasance charges following allegations that they tried to override the decisions of voters. Albert Schumm Jr. and Ronald Cooper were named in petitions validated by the Clare County clerk's office. They are charged with using their office to subvert the wishes of voters, who repealed a zoning ordinance and adopted a resolution at an annual board meeting. The petitions say Schumm and Cooper tried to override the decision of the voters. County Clerk Ruth Stanley said she will ask the election committee to hold the recall vote June 28. That is the date already scheduled for another vote to replace recalled officials in Clare County's Hayes Township. Supervisor Theodore Rhachel and Treasurer Angela Knowak were recalled by voters May 3 on charges they held private meetings that were not open to the public. Only one township board member is left and there is no quorum, so township business is at a standstill until the election.

Four Inmates Hurt In Prison Mini-Riot

State legislators toured the prison in March, and one House leader called it "a time bomb."

Just over 25 years ago, one of the bloodiest and costliest convict uprisings in U.S. penal history broke out at Southern Michigan Prison.

It began on April 20, 1952. One convict was killed, 10 convicts and four state troopers wounded. Several other convicts were battered by fellow inmates. Rioting damages reached an officially estimated $2 million.

Half a dozen buildings outside the cell blocks of the prison were leveled or damaged as the penal city's 5,000-odd population ran wild.

State's prison population is more than 13,200. The system is designed to house 11,430. The population is expected to reach 14,200 by next January.

"The result is a situation so acute that, as we move into late spring and early summer, we could have a very explosive situation on our hands," the governor told the legislature last month. He urged quick action on his prison proposals calling for expenditures of more than $20 million.

Milliken said the Jackson complex, the world's largest walled prison, will be subdivided into two separate facilities, reducing the total population to

HIGH LEVEL OF CARE: Severely burned patient, center, is aided by medical personnel in Burn Center at University of Michigan Medical Center in Ann Arbor, Mich. WHFB, BH Schools Gaining Fame For 'Homeroom' Series

"Homeroom," a special radio feature produced by radio station WHFB and the Benton Harbor schools' public relations department, is gaining state and national attention as a means to highlight school programs for the community, according to Benton Harbor schools.

The program recently received recognition from the Michigan Education Association by winning a School Bell award, an annual program to identify outstanding communication efforts.

Earlier this spring, school board trustee Bernard Beland presented a workshop session on the program at the National School Boards association seminar in Houston, Texas. The school system said Beland was one of 15 education leaders selected to present a session for some of the 15,000 delegates at the conference.

Supt. Richard Helser said that because of the presentation, inquiries for additional information have been received from school districts throughout the country interested in duplicating the program. The National School Public Relations association sponsored Beland's presentation.

Helser noted the program has also been presented at a statewide school public relations conference, resulting in similar programs being initiated in Jackson and Ann Arbor.

"The success of Homeroom indicates to us that people are very interested in learning more about their schools," Helser said. "Using the radio, we can reach a much broader audience that goes beyond parents of school children alone."

Homeroom is heard weekdays on WHFB AM and FM and on WSJM AM. The schedule is Sa-

By JANE MYERS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Suppose you're cooking and in haste or carelessness manage to spill a huge kettle of boiling water over your arms, upper torso and legs.

Suppose you're preparing to put your power lawn mower into storage for the winter. Without thinking, you light a cigarette while draining the gasoline from the engine. The gas explodes and you suffer burns over your face, arms and legs.

Suppose the victim in each of these accidents at home is under 35 and suffers burns over 50 per cent of the body.

What are his or her chances of survival? Depending on the hospital in which each of these burn victims ends up, chances of survival range from 3 in 10 to 7 in 10.

Why, in one hospital, would your chances of survival be quite good, while in another they would not be good at all? Is it the facilities available?

Is it the doctors, nurses and staff technicians?

Is it the method of treatment? Nobody knows for sure. But one person who would like to find out is Dr. Irving Feller, director of the Michigan Burn Center and president of the National Institute for Burn Medicine, an Ann Arbor-based organization dedicated to education and research in the area of burn medicine.

The "suppose" incidents described above are all too real. More than 3,000 people suffer burns requiring hospitalization in Michigan alone each year and a large proportion of burn victims are injured in home accidents.

About one in eight of those requiring hospitalization died. The cost of treating burn victims in the state is more than $30 million per year.

Standards in the area of burn medicine are still in the formative stage, in contrast to things such as appendectomies, gall bladder surgery and other better-known items to which the human body falls prey.

But a burn patient is different. If he recovers, he is lucky. If he doesn't — well, he wasn't so lucky.

Nobody knows what his rate of survival should be.

The National Burn Association was established in 1964 by Feller to collect data that would be necessary to establish trends in burn treatment.

By 1974, it had collected data on 21,000 burn patients from 80 institutions in 27 states and five countries.

Analysis of this data published in the Journal of the American Medical Association indicated the following:

—Survival is influenced by the size and depth of the burn.

—There is an increased survival of males, compared to females.

—Five different age categories can be identified that influence survival.

—The type of medication used on the surface of the burn had little effect on survival.

—There is a significant difference in survival when the institution providing the treatment is considered.

It is this last finding — that the hospital to which a burn patient is sent has a lot to do with his or her chance of survival — that Feller would like to explore further.

He feels the level of care required to allow all burn patients the best chance of recovery possibly lies in a system of triage.

Triage, he explained, is derived from the French word trier, meaning to sort. In the medical sense, it means sorting patients according to a system of priorities — sending the most critically burned patients to the burn centers offering intensive care environment; sending severely burned patients to burn units; and treating moderate burns in burn programs in hospitals without special burn facilities.

It sounds simple and logical, he said, but it does not always work that way.

The greatest need, Feller said, is for increased levels of training for practicing physicians, nurses and other health personnel so they can better assess the severity of burns and the care required.

Up to now, fund-raising efforts have been devoted mainly to the establishment of burn care facilities in Michigan and across the country.

The need now, Feller believes, is to coordinate efforts to avoid costly duplication of facilities and to institute training programs.

A statewide triage network, coupled with increased training for doctors and nurses specializing in burn care, could go a long way, he believes, towards providing increased chances of recovery for all burn patients.

WE SALUTE BEN DUTHLER:

FOUNDER'S WEEK SALE!

at Family FOODS

This week we salute Ben Duthler, our Chairman of the Board and the co-founder of Family Foods, on our 15th Anniversary of operation. Ben started in the food business 52 years ago in Grand Rapids at the age of eleven. After maturing in the business he operated a number of stores successfully until opening the first Family Food Store in Grand Rapids in May of 1962.

We still operate Family Food Stores according to the original concept of low prices throughout the store, large service meat counters, and friendly customer service.

Throughout the years, Ben Duthler's leadership, enthusiasm and strong feelings of serving consumer needs have led to the growth of Family Food Stores from that one operation in Grand Rapids to five stores today serving the communities of Kalamazoo, Muskegon and Benton Harbor as well as Grand Rapids.

The rapid growth of Family Foods, in Ben Duthler's opinion, is the result of the outstanding contribution of the good, loyal, and talented people that make up Family Food Stores.

Ben Duthler is quite a guy and we are proud to salute him during our Founder's Week Sale!

FBI Says Mobsters Out To Carve Up Atlantic City

By PETER MATIACE
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Although casino gambling here is many months away, officials say mobsters, like legitimate businessmen and land speculators, are placing their bets early.

Voters approved the idea of casino gambling last November. If state and local officials work out the details of regulation in time, gambling could start by late next winter.

But even now, says FBI agent Louis Giovannetti, the FBI has received indications that meetings have taken place for the purpose of dividing up the city — of who will take what.

Atlantic City was known as a wide-open city in the 1920s and 1930s, but business had been slow for mobsters and hotels alike in recent years. Now, Giovannetti said, anticipation of casino gambling is changing that.

The city has asked the FBI and other state and federal officials to screen applications for permits for such ancillary services as restaurants, bars, vending machine firms, laundry services and food suppliers. Federal and state authorities say those are organized crime's prime targets.

According to the FBI, the mob's piece of the pie is being divided between New York's Carlo Gambino family and reputed Philadelphia boss Angelo Bruno. "It's their territory," said Giovannetti, but he would not comment on specific reports that organized crime figures had begun making inroads.

He did say the FBI has expanded its local office.

Meanwhile, speculators and developers are jockeying for position to see who will get to set up the hotels and casino complexes.

Even though the state legislature is still working on the law that would set up regulation machinery, several major firms — and some speculators — have announced plans for large pieces of property, presuming they will get the approval of regulatory officials.

Resorts International, Inc., which owns four hotels and a casino in the Bahamas, has begun a $10 million renovation of the 1,000-room Haddon Hall hotel. The firm invested heavily in the campaign to persuade voters to approve gambling, and it also has hired architect John Portman to build another 1,000-room casino hotel nearby.

Playboy Enterprises Inc. has announced plans to invest $50 million in a 600-room casino hotel on the Boardwalk near Convention Hall. The firm plans to break ground this summer on their 100-by-341-foot site.

And Bally Manufacturing Corp. of Chicago, the world's largest maker of slot machines, plans to spend $30 million to convert the gracious old Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel into a casino hotel complex.

Las Vegas hotelmen are noticeably absent. They are waiting for two reasons: their own state gaming regulations prevent casino owners from investing outside the state, and the New Jersey senate is still considering an Assembly-passed bill setting up a casino control commission.

Officials of the Las Vegas hotels — and some other hotel chains — say they would have to know such specifics as hours of operation and whether drinks may be served at tables before estimating how profitable gambling would be here.

Gov. Brendan Byrne is expected to sign the New Jersey legislation within a month, assuming the Senate finishes its work soon. That would allow casinos to open next winter.

CHAIN OF CASTLES: Finishing touches are put on some of the sandcastles built on the beach of Hermosa Beach, Calif., Sunday. A chain of medieval castles, pyramids and dragons ran in sections for some 12 miles along the Southern California coast. As estimated 20,000 people were involved in the project. It began in the morning and was completed in the afternoon before the tide came in. (AP Wirephoto)

His Monument Of Sand Runs For 12 Miles

HERMOSA BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Ashes to ashes, dust to dust, sand to sand. Thousands of dreamers helped Todd Vander Pluym build his 12-mile-long sandcastle, but hours later the tide turned his Camelot-on-the-sand into a happy memory.

Vander Pluym's chain of medieval castles, pyramids, and dragons was begun Sunday morning and completed during the afternoon. It ran from Redondo Beach to Marina del Rey along the southern California coast.

"It stretched as far as the eye could see," said Lifeguard Lt. Wally Millican. "It's kind of neat all the people got together to do it."

He estimated 20,000 people got involved in the castle in some way, either examining it or patting on a few mounds of sand.

"It's the only thing you can see in its beginning, middle and end all in one day," Vander Pluym, 36, said of his sandcastle-building hobby. "And you don't have to worry about cleaning up when you're done."

Friends told Vander Pluym, a Manhattan Beach architectural planner who has won prizes building sandcastles, that this castle just couldn't be done. But he said, during the weeks spent planning the project, "If anything is going to happen, you have to believe."

So when the day came, thousands turned out to help him realize his dream. On some sections, many several feet tall, entire neighborhoods of beach area residents joined in the building.

"There was a lot of local pride," said Lt. Millican. "Everybody got together and had a good time."

Vander Pluym said he got hooked on the hobby by winning a sandcastle-building contest in 1963. Since then he has entered about 80 such contests. Last year he won five grand sweepstakes for castle-building.

"It's a very cheap hobby with great advantages and few disadvantages," he said.

Vander Pluym hopes to enter the latest achievement in the Guinness Book of World Records, since the longest castle to date was only 326 feet, he said.

The project took about 4½ hours to complete. Trophies were awarded to artistic groups and builders whose sections showed the greatest imagination.

As the sun set, the tide returned, and Camelot crumbled back into sand.

Montana Town 'Loaded' With Saloons

By JULES LOM

AP Special Correspondent
HARDIN, Mont. (AP) — The Becker. The Midget. The Mint. The Big Horn. The Court. The Mission. The Stockman.

Those are the names of the seven saloons on a single block in this small town. Hardin, population 2,700, stands upon the banks of the Big Horn River as Montana's answer to its citizens' abiding dread of thirst.

The Merry Mixer. The Wagon Wheel. The Hardin Club. The Four Aces. The Hilltop.

Those are a few more. "Don't forget the Elks and the American Legion," said Monk Sloan, wiping the moist mahogany. "That makes two more. Add it up and there are 14. Fourteen saloons and they're all making money."

Monk Sloan's father, Eugene Sloan, whose people pioneered this country, nodded enthusiastically.

"This town spends more per capita on booze than any other in the state, including Butte," Eugene Sloan said. "At least that's what the distributors tell us. I don't know if there are official figures, but from what I see right here on Center Street, it sounds right to me."

Monk Sloan is proprietor of the Big Horn Saloon, one of the more appealing of the 14 for its frontier decor, which he and his father have lovingly restored.

What the Sloans see outside the swinging doors on their side of Center Street, between Second and Third, is a row of seven structures, five of them saloons, the integrity of that staggering sight violated only by the town dry cleaner, who looks up before dark, and — looking as if it is gasping for breath — a flower shop.

In a place where everything seems exaggerated — the sky, the mountain ranges, the boasts and the pride — it isn't surprising that Montanans should provide for their drinking in a big way too.

In fact, this part of the state has a special attachment to elbow-bending heroes. Just south of here Custer's men rode to glory, singing their theme song, the Garryowen.

"Come join with me each jovial blade, come booze and sing and lend your aid ..."

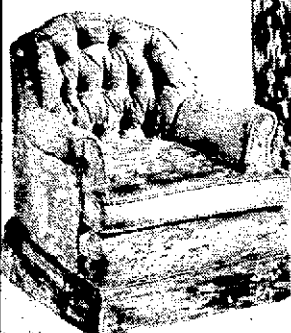

According to Monk Sloan, his Big Horn Saloon, built in 1910 when Hardin was coming into its own as a railroad depot, at one time was as swashbuckling a joint as any on the frontier. He took it over in 1973, after it had been long closed, and spent the first weeks patching bullet holes.

THEY'RE LATE: Two unidentified travelers are assisted onto tugboat after they missed Sunday departure of the MST Daphne from New Orleans harbor on the way to Havana. Tug took the pair to the luxury

FIRST CRUISE SINCE 1961 Yanks Bound For Cuba

By DAVID N. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four hundred luxury liner passengers, including jazz greats Dizzy Gillespie and Earl "Fatha" Hines, are en route to Cuba on the first tourist cruise from America since 1961, when the two countries broke diplomatic relations.

The liner Daphne left here Sunday after a dockside demonstration by several hundred Cuban exiles, including Fidel Castro's sister Juanita, who flew in from Miami for the protest.

Miss Castro spoke to the peaceful demonstration in Spanish, urging the participants to flood the White House with messages reminding President Carter that human rights are flouted in Cuba.

The demonstrators passed out literature and spoke with arriving passengers about conditions in Cuba. The protestors' signs bore such slogans as, "When you get to paradise, don't forget your American brothers still living in hell" and "Tourists: enjoy yourself, but remember, political prisoners have no holidays."

The Cuban government forbade any exiled Cubans from going on the voyage, even if they are now American citizens.

Shortly before the ship sailed, a man called harbor police with a bomb threat, but a search of the vessel found no bomb and the ship departed just behind schedule for the 44-hour passage.

The vessel is scheduled to arrive in Havana Tuesday and to stay for 36 hours. Gillespie and Hines, who are to play during the trip, are scheduled to perform at a memorial concert Tuesday night in Havana for Cuban drummer Chano Pozo, who used to play with Gillespie.

The passengers will live on the ship during their two nights in Havana. The Cuban government will not allow them to go on independent sightseeing ventures, but is sponsoring two organized tours of the city. Stops are to include a housing development, old and new Havana, and Ernest Hemingway's home.

The inaugural trip was booked to capacity, a spokesman for the ship's owner, Carras Line of London, said. It was arranged in large part by cellist Christine Walevka, who was the first U.S. concert artist to tour Cuba in 1965. Her husband is a consultant to the Carras Line.

After the stay in Havana, the ship will sail for Nassau and passengers will fly back to the United States from there. The ship will go from Nassau to New York.

Israeli Electioneering Draws To Close Today

By JOEL EPSTEIN
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Israeli election campaign ends today with public opinion polls showing almost 20 per cent of the voters still undecided who they want to lead the Jewish state into peace negotiations with the Arabs.

The top two contenders for prime minister capped their campaigns with Israel's first televised debate Sunday night. It focused on the question of what war-won territory should be returned to the Arabs at the bargaining table.

The Knesset — Israel's parliament — was to meet in special session today for another debate, called by the right-wing opposition Likud (Unity) party, on two key election issues: relations with the United States and allegations that the ruling Labor party failed to supervise the armed forces adequately.

About 80 per cent of the 2.5 million eligible voters are expected to cast ballots Tuesday in what could be the closest and most indecisive election in the history of the Jewish state. Latest polls have shown a narrowing gap between the Labor party, which has governed since Israel's birth in 1948, and the conservative Likud faction.

They predicted Labor would win between 36 and 40 seats in the 120-member Knesset while Likud would get between 30 and 38 seats. Labor won 51 seats in the 1973 election, Likud 39.

The polls gave the Democratic Movement for Change (DMC), a new party formed by rebel Laborites, 12 or 13 seats, which would give it a pivotal role in post-election efforts to forge a governing coalition.

Defense Minister Shimon Peres, now the Labor party's new leader, faced Likud leader Menachem Begin before the TV camera for a final review of campaign positions on peace proposals, Israeli-American relations and the inflation-ravaged economy.

Peres, now the acting prime minister, moved to the top of the Labor party list when Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin stepped aside following the revelation of his wife's illegal bank accounts in the United States.

In the debate, Peres pledged to continue Labor policy of exchanging some territory captured in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war for a peace settlement.

Begin said Israel must retain all of the West Bank of the Jordan river taken from Jordan in 1967. He accused Labor of offering concessions that would put the cities of Tel Aviv and Haifa "within range of Arab artillery."

"We should explain to the United States that this is not only a danger for us but to the free world, because a Palestinian state would become a central Soviet base in the Middle East," Begin said.

Peres charged that Begin's policy would "block any possibility of negotiating a peace." Peres said Israel must protect its ties with the United States, its only supplier of military and economic aid, but "must not be afraid to say no" on such issues as peace terms.

There has been speculation that a hard-line Likud government would spark a crisis in relations between Washington and Jerusalem. But Begin said he would "deepen the friendship and understanding with America," and he accused Labor of failing to explain adequately Israel's position on peace terms to the United States.

Despite the candidates' emphasis on Middle East politics, that was not the key element of the long campaign. According to the polls it was economics and internal political scandals that cut deepest into Labor party backing.

Changes Due For OSHA

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Some "important changes" will be announced this week in the federal agency that watches over working conditions, says U.S. Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall.

Marshall did not say what specific changes would be made in the Occupational Safety and Health Administration, but he said the agency should be tougher with large industry and more helpful to small business.

"There is much too much nit-picking now," Marshall said Sunday. "We've been fishing for minnows and letting the whales get away."

Marshall made the comments before he addressed commencement ceremonies at Millsaps College, from which he graduated in 1949.

Marshall said OSHA would seek more cooperation from business and labor. He also said OSHA needs to improve its image and work more with small businessmen and farmers to help them understand the regulations.

"We believe strongly in the basic purpose of OSHA — to protect the safety and health of workers," Marshall said. "We believe the procedures which have been used to carry out the purpose have not been as good as they could be."

Fertilizer Bit Cheaper, Michigan Growers Find

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer
LANSING (AP) — Michigan farmers, unlike those in some other states, are finding ample supplies of fertilizers and pesticides this year with prices on some products down.

The price of nitrogen, one of the basic ingredients in most fertilizers, soared in 1973 because of the Arab oil embargo. Natural gas is used in the production of nitrogen-based fertilizers.

Fertilizer prices have jumped 64 per cent since 1973, partly because of the embargo and the nation's inflation.

A nationwide survey showed recently that because natural gas was in short supply last winter and had to be diverted from fertilizer plants to heat homes, prices are up in several states.

But not in Michigan, says a recent state Department of Agriculture survey of farmers and county extension offices. Prices are about the same on some fertilizers while several major ones cost less than they did last spring. And the fertilizer will be readily available.

Most pesticide prices also are unchanged or only slightly higher than last year, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A 10 per cent increase in production is expected.

Farmers already have indicated they'll plant more soybeans this year, making the demand for fertilizer and pesticides greater than in the past.

In Michigan, one of the primary fertilizers used for corn and other spring-planted field crops is 8-24-24, which means a mixture of 8 per cent nitrogen, 24 per cent phosphorus and 24 per cent potash. The remaining portion of the mixture is inert matter.

Nearly 100,000 tons were used in 1976 when the price was $145 a ton. This year the price is down, if only slightly, to $141 a ton.

The state Department of Agriculture's survey shows the following current prices per ton for popular fertilizer mixtures compared with last year's prices:

05-20-20	$126, down $4
08-32-16	$138, down $7
10-24-16	$167, up $7
12-12-12	$122, down $2
18-46-00	$173, down $11

Congress Votes

BY CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — Votes of area members of Congress on key roll calls for the weekend ending May 6, were:

HOUSE
Vietnam — By a 258-131 vote, the House approved an amendment banning the use of any funds in a State Department authorization bill for aid or reparations to Vietnam, which reportedly has demanded $4.5 billion for construction.
Most House members agreed that the U.S. has no obligation to aid Vietnam because of that nation's violation of provisions of the 1973 peace agreement. The amendment drew opposition largely from members who said it might antagonize the Vietnamese and hamper U.S. efforts to obtain a final accounting of Americans missing in action.

Voting to ban aid to Vietnam: Blanchard (D), Stockman (R), Vander Jagt (R), Wright, (Majority Leader), Rhodes (Minority Leader).
Not voting: Brown (R), Conyers (D).

Defense Budget — Reversing its position from a week earlier, the House voted 178-223 against raising budget targets for defense spending in fiscal 1978 to the levels sought by President Carter. The change in position assured the passage of a budget resolution containing overall spending targets for the new fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. By law, the House and Senate must agree on those targets by May 13.

Supporters of the higher defense spending target argued that the levels proposed by Carter were the minimum necessary to maintain a strong defense.

Opponents argued that the proposed reductions would not endanger defense systems, and that the fate of the new budget process was at stake because many members would not support higher defense spending unless there were similar increases in domestic social programs.

Voting to increase defense spending budget targets: Brown (R), Stockman (R), Vander Jagt (R), Rhodes (Minority Leader).

Voting not to increase defense spending budget targets: Blanchard (D), Conyers (D), Wright (Majority Leader).

SENATE
Public Service Jobs — By a vote of 33-46, the Senate defeated a move to slash funding for public service jobs in state and local governments by $3.9 billion.

Supporters of cutting funds for the jobs program argued that the program had accomplished little and that local governments frequently used federal funds to help meet their existing payrolls without greatly expanding employment.

Opponents of cutting funds contended that in the absence of a tax rebate or permanent tax cuts, the public service jobs program was the only way to attack unemployment quickly.

Voting to cut public service jobs funding: Griffin (R).

Voting not to cut public service jobs funding: Riegle (D).

Budget Resolution — The Senate passed, by a vote of 56-31, a resolution setting preliminary budget targets for the federal government for fiscal year 1978, which begins Oct. 1.

The resolution provided for a spending target for fiscal 1978 of $439.2 billion and estimated revenues at $395.7 billion. The result would be a deficit of $43.5 billion.

Critics of the budget resolution charged that the deficit, the second highest in history, would spur inflation, force the government to borrow more money and thus soak up funds needed for industrial expansion. They also said that such a large deficit would make President Carter's goal of a balanced budget by 1981 impossible to achieve.

Supporters of the budget resolution said that they too were committed to a balanced budget, but that this could only be achieved with a strong economy. The still sluggish economy, they said, cut into revenue estimates and required increased spending on unemployment, compensation, jobs programs and other recession-oriented projects.

Voting for budget resolution: Riegle (D).

Not voting: Griffin (R).

Russian Charity 'Begins Abroad'

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer
MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's only public charity has only nine people working for it, never reveals how much it takes in and doesn't seem to worry much about drumming up new contributions.

But the Soviet Peace Fund is a flourishing operation that not only helps the needy but often reinforces Soviet foreign policy. Since Soviet socialism claims to have eliminated poverty within the Soviet Union, Moscow's charity does not begin at home. Peace Fund money goes almost exclusively to programs overseas and to international organizations approved by the Soviet Union. It is separate from official Soviet government foreign aid.

In recent years the Peace Fund has donated food and medical supplies to Palestinian refugees, medicine and school supplies to North Vietnam during the Vietnam war, and prefabricated houses to Peru following an earthquake.

Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat dropped by Peace Fund headquarters in Moscow earlier this year to thank the fund for its help.

The fund also brings foreign children to spend summers in Soviet youth camps, contributes aid worth about $100,000 a year to the Organization of African Unity and gives to a number of peace and disarmament conferences.

In an interview, fund Secretary-General Leonid G. Nikonov did not rule out the possibility that the fund could make contributions to countries unfriendly to the Soviet Union. But he noted that most contributions are earmarked in advance by their donors for such Soviet-approved causes as helping opponents of the Chilean junta and aiding the Palestinians.

During the Vietnam war, he said, "we stood on the side of democratic Vietnam (the North Vietnamese) and were convinced of its eventual victory."

The fund claims to have received donations from 70 million people — nearly a quarter of the Soviet Union's population — in its 16 years of existence. Four million volunteers aid in collecting money.

But Nikonov said income totals are never published because "this would amount to pressure on our contributors to give more."

Keeping the fund's resources secret also comports with the Soviet policy of not publicizing the total size of its foreign aid effort.

Nikonov said the fund is not particularly concerned about raising new sums, asserting that the "internationalism of the Soviet people" provides sufficient contributions.

The Peace Fund collects much of its money after factory and office lectures on international issues. Some work brigades also have taken to listing a Communist hero, such as the exiled Chilean Communist leader Luis Corvalan, as a brigade member. The workers then pitch in to do "Corvalan's" share of the work and contribute his salary to the fund.

Peace Fund officials also report a large flow of mailed individual contributions, usually in the $4 to $13 range.

State Wants It All

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state will appeal a circuit court ruling which split $384,000 between the man who found it buried in a field 2½ years ago and the township where it was uncovered.

The farm where the money was found belonged to a Detroit man who was later indicted by a federal grand jury in an alleged international drug smuggling ring. Authorities said they believed the source of the money was drug trafficking.

Bernard Rosner, an assistant attorney general, said the state will contend that the money was hidden and not lost, and that the finder trespassed on private property when he found the money.

The state also will charge that it should "protect" the money until the real owner is found, Rosner said. In the meantime, the money should be spent to help pay for education in Michigan, he said.

The money was buried in a locked steel suitcase that was found by a hunter on farmland in Livingston County in October, 1974.

Circuit Court Judge Paul Mahlske ruled last week that half the money should go to the hunter and the rest to Oceola Township.

Chamber Talk May 24 To Cover No-Fault Law

The Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a breakfast meeting on no-fault insurance for Thursday, May 24, at 7:30 a.m. in the Hamilton Inn, Benton Harbor.

Robert J. Molhoek, president of Bell-Molhoek Agency, Inc., St. Joseph, will discuss the good and bad points of Michigan's no-fault insurance law.

Molhoek, a native of Grand Rapids, moved to St. Joseph in 1954. He is chairman of the

They Drove Far For Nothing

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — After being chided for missing two public hearings on utility rate hikes, two members of the state's Public Service Commission traveled 227 miles to attend the final one. Unfortunately, no one else except reporters showed up.

Commissioners William Ralls and Legion Scullthorpe made the trip from Lansing to Escanaba last week to hear what Upper Peninsula residents thought about Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.'s request for a $110 million rate increase. "It was a fiasco," admitted Ralls. "It's irritating when no one shows up."

So the commissioners spent the time asking reporters if they had heard any comments by Upper Peninsula residents about the rate hike. No one had. All three PSC commissioners — Ralls, Scullthorpe and Daniel Denlow — missed a hearing about the rate hike in Detroit 10 days ago. About 50 residents showed up and many were angry about the commissioners' absence. The PSC panel members also missed a public hearing on the issue in Grand Rapids last week.

Scullthorpe estimated the trip to Escanaba cost taxpayers about $800. An administrative law judge, a court reporter and two PSC staff members also made the trip from Lansing. Consolidated's request would affect one million customers in Detroit, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Ann Arbor, northern Lower Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

Finance Seminar June 1

The Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce has scheduled a workshop dealing with financing of small businesses on Wednesday, June 1 at the Holiday Inn in Benton Harbor.

The program begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration and will include a panel of local bank officials who will explain loan packages. They include Don Eppelheimer, First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan; Dan Smith, Inter-City Bank; and Dick Whelan, Farmers and Merchants National Bank.

Susan Fraser, of Michigan Capital & Service, Inc., will speak on small business investment companies and Alex Yovan, of the Small Business Administration from Detroit, will explain small business assistance programs. Public financing will be discussed by Wayne Workman, of the Michigan Department of Commerce.

Joseph B. Naines Jr., corporate economist of Whirlpool Corporation, will be the luncheon speaker. His topic will be "Life Style of the Eighties." Reservations have been mailed to members, but others interested in attending may call chamber offices for reservations. Attendance is limited to 50 and the cost of the seminar is still per person, which includes the luncheon.

TODAY In History

Young Workers Reject System

ANY ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The generation gap has hit business and industry and it features restless young workers who don't like being told what to do, say University of Michigan researchers.

The results are blue-collar blues, growing interest in alternative careers and drops in productivity — nationally, conclude the researchers.

The researchers say, organizational psychologists David G. Bowers and Jerome L.

Franklin, said young workers born since World War II run headlong into the do-what-I-tell-you traditional bosses.

Their national sample of 1,500 households with reports from all persons over age 15 found that all workers, no matter what age, have two main objectives.

"They want a job that permits them to be personally independent and they want material success," Bowers said Friday. The difference, said Bowers, comes with youth "and the comparative unwillingness of youth to put up with highly directive, arbitrary practices."

Bowers said management is going to have to make some big changes in the next 15 years when all the yes-sir men are gone.

Supervisors will have to be chosen and trained with an eye on their interpersonal skills and awareness, he said. The new breed of supervisors "should know how to organize groups of their peers into teams that can get the work done," said Bowers.

Bowers also suggested big organizations with great hierarchies should become flatter and decentralized with fewer levels of control.

The Bowers-Franklin study indicates a high degree of turmoil between young beliefs and old management styles, but some observers of organizational psychology think it might be a temporary phenomenon.

Haiman Rosen, professor and chairman of industrial and organizational psychology at Wayne State University, said the harder economic times of the 1970s took their toll. Much research, said Rosen, indicates the newest breed of workers is "a lot stricter with more conventional attitudes toward industry" than the hippie types of the 1960s.

JOHN P. ROCHE

A Word Edgewise

The harder you look at the growing separatist operation in Quebec, the more obvious the situation appears. While no parallel can ever catch the nuances, Quebec in 1977 has a tenuous resemblance to Northern Ireland in 1968.

Of course, the odds are reversed: in Northern Ireland the Catholic Irish constitute about a third of the population, whereas in Quebec the Catholic

French are about 80 percent. However, in both cases the English Protestants have historically controlled — the economy, discriminated against Catholics and engaged in egregious class snobbery. When you wrap religion, ethnicity and class in one package, you are dealing with dynamite. The dynamite cap is then provided by new actors on the historical stage: terrorists — posing some murky left-wing credo. Quebec has always been a nationalist enclave, but a peculiar one because of traditional domination by the extremely conservative Catholic church. In essence, a fragment of Royalist France was parked in North America. Until recently it was predominantly rural.

A friend of mine in graduate school, for example, went to a Quebec village in the late 1940s to do some sociological research. He and his wife assiduously learned Canadian French, were Catholic, and planned to melt into the background for a year. The day after their arrival a messenger appeared inviting them to the town hall. On arrival they were interrogated at length by the potentates: the "Maire" and the "Cure."

The mayor, satisfied they were not enemy agents, signed off, but the priest insisted on inspecting their quarters. Several volumes were severely criticized, and he departed with instructions on the time for Confession and Mass. They felt they had been prematurely admitted to Purgatory.

Their experience was not atypical. But what could be the common denominator uniting pious French conservatives, an urban intelligentsia, Trotskyites, fascists, farmers and factory workers? On its face this unlikely coalition sounds like the beginning of a saloon brawl. Yet, there is one trumpet call that brings all the troops into the language, the demand that the "old tongue" be respected.

Now Americans, perhaps because we descended from the Tower of Babel, have generally been very relaxed about foreign languages in our midst. My guess is that if a delegation of Chinese-Americans went to Boston's City Council and asked for ballots in Chinese, the response would be favorable. Boston's Chinatown already has bilingual street signs. A city councilor who argued that this was a capitulation, a symbolic acceptance of fractures in the body politic, would be considered a nut.

Other nations, unfortunately have not displayed this resilience and honey battles go on. A Breton family gives its child a Gaelic name; the name is not in the French government's book of acceptable names; the child is illegitimate! Both the English and French are famous for their assumptions of linguistic grandeur. On one hand it's, "If they want to be civilized, they can bloody well learn English; on the other, a Paris conference once, when we were lost in a howling rainstorm, corrected my pronunciation of Rue Poincaré. And only then did he point with towering contempt and say, "C'est la."

In Quebec these two forces have hit head-on. But the language question is only the tip of the iceberg. The demand for an independent Quebec arouses counterforces — Canada without Quebec would be a geographic oddity — and even more extreme come out of the woodwork.

Frankly, if I were Secretary of State, I'd put Rhodeia on the back burner and concentrate on the future of the Confederation of Canada, a vital American interest.

The American Car Of 1985: What, No V-8 Engine?

By OWEN ULLMANN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — If you're shopping for a new General Motors car in 1985, you may discover:
—There are no more V-8 engines.
—Every fourth car is powered by a diesel engine, which gets better fuel economy than a gasoline engine.
—GM's "large" cars will weigh 300 pounds less than today's compacts.
—More cars will have front-wheel drive to increase interior space.
—It will take a minimum 15 to 18 seconds for a GM car to accelerate from 0 to 60 miles per hour, including the sporty Corvette, compared with a minimum 10 to 12 second range today.
—Prices may be larger even though the vehicle is smaller.

Those are some of the observations contained in a report GM recently submitted to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.
The agency asked for a "hypothetical scenario" of what cars in the 1981-85 period would be like as a result of federal fuel economy laws which require new cars to average 27.5 miles per gallon in 1985. The automakers' 1977 car fleets average between 16 and 19 m.p.g.

GM, the nation's largest automaker, has made public portions of its report. Ford Motor Co. has not released its report, and Chrysler's was not immediately available. However, Ford and Chrysler are expected to go the same route as GM, which builds more than half the vehicles produced in the United States.

GM cautioned that its conclusions do not represent final product plans, noting that "there is no guarantee that the consumer will buy the products... automobile design is going to be changed more radically in the next several years than in any comparable period in the past," the company said in a letter accompanying its report to the NHTSA.

GM said it based its scenario

Cole Will Hearing Is July 6

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A hearing is scheduled July 6 in Oakland County Probate Court on the will of Edward N. Cole, the retired president of General Motors Corp. who died May 2 in a plane crash.

The will divides Cole's estate among his widow, Dottie Ann Cole; his three children: David, Martha and Edward; and his adopted children, Ann and Joseph Cole.

The document, dated July 17, 1968, did not list the total value of the estate. An estimate of the value was expected to be filed by the National Bank of Detroit, the special administrator of the estate, within 30 days.

Cole left his wife all tangible personal and household effects including cars, boats, insurance policies and property in Monticore County.

The will specifies Cole will honor the property settlement established in 1964 when he was divorced from his first wife, Esther.

The will directs Cole's stocks in several companies to be sold to pay debts and then divided among his beneficiaries. Listed were stocks in General Motors Corp., the Niagara Mohawk Power Co., Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey (now Exxon Corp.), the Youngtown Sheet & Tube Co. and the Genesee Merchants Bank and Trust.

Amounts of the stocks were not listed and the document did not mention Checker Motors Corp., the Kalamazoo company Cole headed at his death and in which he bought a major interest earlier this year.

Also to be sold are property on the Rite River at Alger, the family home in Bloomfield Hills, property in Guatemala, and Cole's investment in the GM retirement plan, valued at $86,732.

on assumptions that the industry would get some relief from proposed toughening of emissions standards, and that there would be no major technological breakthroughs.
Since fuel economy is affected more by a vehicle's weight than anything else, GM said its basic approach to better mileage is to make its cars smaller and lighter with smaller engines.

Here are some of GM's trends:

WEIGHT: The average GM car, which currently weighs 4,200 pounds, will weigh 3,100 in 1985. The firm's intermediates, which average 4,500 pounds, will shed 900 pounds in 1981 and another 500 pounds in 1984. Fullsize cars, which were made smaller for 1977, will get smaller again in 1983, with their weight going down from a current 4,200 pounds to 3,550 on the average.

GASOLINE ENGINES: The

V-8, so called because its eight cylinders are in a V-configuration, will be dropped for all 1985 new cars are being bought with a V-8. By 1985, GM's biggest engine will be a 3.8 liter — 240 cylinders, the rest with 6-cylinders.

DIESELS: GM is introducing a diesel-powered Oldsmobile this fall, with expected sales of 30,000, or one per cent of total production. If the engine proves to be popular, diesels will account for 5 per cent of total GM car output in 1981, and increase each following year by 5 per cent until reaching a 25 per cent share in 1985. GM cautions that the 25 per cent figure may be "overly optimistic."

PRICE: GM wouldn't comment specifically on prices, but it said costs would go up — a good indication of what will happen to prices. GM said the cost increase will result from changes needed to maintain a car's safety, performance and durability traits as it gets smaller and the use of new lightweight materials that are more expensive.

GM said it spent $1.1 billion to make its full-size cars smaller for 1977, and that was "as modest a program as possible."

"As we go forward, downsizing may require the use of front wheel drive components, all new engines, all new transmissions, etc."
"The cost of such programs will be substantially higher than our 1977 program, which was largely able to utilize many carryover mechanical components."

Next Decade To See Radical Design Changes

GM cars except the Corvette, which should lose the V-8 in 1984. Currently, three of four cubic inches — V-6. The firm estimates two-thirds of its 1985 cars will be built with 4-cylinder

Rockets' Pride, Great Shooting Overcomes 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers have learned that words sometimes speak louder than actions.

The Houston Rockets apparently were more upset by what was said about them than they were over the 3-1 deficit they faced in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association Eastern Conference championship.

Houston Coach Tom Nissalke said "pride" was the key to his team's 118-115 triumph over the 76ers Sunday, which sent the series back to Houston for a sixth game Tuesday night. The Rockets retaliated like wounded animals, clawing back from a third-period, 17-point deficit.

John Lucas, the Rockets' quarterback, spoke of Houston's bruised egos. "In Philly they called us water buffaloes," he said. "They said we were too slow coming up and down the court. All I know is that we're 3-2."

And Rudy Tomjanovich added, "George McGinnis said, 'There is no way we can lose this series.' Hey, I wouldn't put his whole contract on that. If basketball was as predictable as that it wouldn't be a sport."

Nissalke referred to a story quoting the 76ers' Steve Mix as belittling Houston's 6-foot-10 center, Moses Malone.

"Contrary to what Mix said, Moses is a pretty good player," Nissalke said. "I thought his (Mix) remarks were dumb. Moses is the best rebounder in the league. We know about the Sixers' weaknesses, but we don't talk about them. I thought it was ridiculous of Steve's part."

Lucas, Tomjanovich, Malone and Calvin Murphy all vented their anger against the Sixers on the Spectrum floor Sunday. Lucas scored 21 points, including a driving, twisting 12-footer with 1:45 left that sent the Rockets ahead to stay 110-109. Tomjanovich also had 21, 11 of them in the late going. Malone had 17 and dragged down 19 rebounds. Murphy, despite five personal fouls, contributed 15, seven in the final period.

"Great shooting won that game," said Nissalke. "We're the best shooting team in the league. And our rebounding (a 50-40 edge) also was a key factor. And they had three guys in foul trouble (McGinnis, Doug Collins and Caldwell Jones)."

Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue was upset about blowing a game the 76ers appeared to have in the bag.

"I didn't want to go back to Houston," Shue lamented. "This was a game we really wanted to win."

McGinnis, who scored 11 points, grabbed 11 rebounds and handed out four assists despite a groin injury that required a pre-game cortisone shot, said the 76ers simply were overconfident.

"It was too simple, too easy, the way we won three of the first four," McGinnis said. "We were complacent. I guess we learned a lesson."

Julius Erving made no excuses. He really didn't have to. Dr. J whirled, drove, jumped and dunked for 37 points, handed out six assists and made three steals.

The Portland Trail Blazers, winners in 4-0 straight over Los Angeles for the Western Conference title, will have to wait at least one more game to find out who their opponent will be.

In any event, the best-of-seven championship series will not start until Sunday, at the home of the Eastern Conference winner.

Tom Sneva Gets Indy Pole

Rutherford 'Loser'

By JERRY GARRETT
AP Motorsports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — At least Johnny Rutherford can start the Indianapolis 500 next to one Sneva.

Not the one he had in mind, though.

Rutherford, the defending champion, passed up a chance on the first day of qualifying, Saturday, to earn a front-row seat for the May 29 auto racing classic. He wanted the pole position, or nothing.

Indianapolis 500's Front Row

AL UNSER

He got nothing. Rutherford, a two-time pole winner in the $1 million race and top qualifier in five previous races this season, gambled that his backup McLaren would run better than his front-line model, which had turned 197,542 miles an hour on its first qualifying lap.

But Tom Sneva, the 28-year-old mathematics teacher from Spokane, Wash., had shattered the track record and had officially become the first driver in the 68-year history of the 2½-mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway to exceed 200 m.p.h.

And Sneva did it — laps at 200.401 and 200.535 — in a McLaren-Cosworth, a carbon copy of Rutherford's mount.

Rutherford's gamble didn't pay off. The backup McLaren "just quit" on a warmup lap, and not enough time remained to get the other car through the qualifying line again before the end of time trials at 6 p.m.

"We gambled and we lost — nothing more, nothing less," Rutherford said after qualifying

Sunday at 187,325.

Though the speed was third fastest over-all, Rutherford earned the 17th starting position because he didn't qualify on the first day.

That put him next to Jerry Sneva, the younger brother of the pole winner, who qualified a 7-year-old McLaren at 188,616. Not bad considering the car's age, but slowest of the Saturday qualifiers.

Rutherford, who openly predicted the 200 barrier would be broken and that he would be the one to do it, was in no mood for jokes.

"We thought we had enough to do the job. Obviously we didn't," he said.

There was little other track activity — only five qualifiers. But the group was a popular one: Rutherford, Gary Bettenhausen, Roger McCluskey, Jim McElreath and Lloyd Ruby.

Clay Regazzoni, the Swiss grand prix veteran, was en route to one of the day's best runs, over 180 m.p.h., when he spun into the infield grass and flipped. He walked away from the accident.

Qualifying resumes Saturday and ends Sunday. Practice continues all week.

CRASHING THE FENCE: Fire spews from the rear of Clay Regazzoni's race car as he rips through the turn four infield safety fence during a qualification attempt at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Sunday

Hot Cubs Making Run At First After Sweeping Expos

MONTREAL (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the Montreal Expos says he isn't about to hit the panic button, but he's searching hard for a way to get the club out of a six-game losing streak.

The Chicago Cubs, making a run at first place in the East Division, swept a doubleheader from the Expos 4-3 and 4-2 Sunday and now have won 12 of 14 games for a 19-11 mark, 2½ games out of the top spot.

"The Cubs made excellent contact — they're hot right now," Williams said after the Expos ended a 1-6 home stand that included four losses to Chicago.

"We had a club meeting at noon, just a personal team meeting to say 'Come on, guys,'" Williams said. "The way we executed — was good. We haven't been executing lately. We missed a few signs lately and we rehearsed the signs to make sure we knew them."

It didn't help Sunday. Jerry Morales drove in two runs in each game to pace the Chicago attack.

Ray Burris, 5-3, went 7½ innings to win the first game with relief help from Wipac Hernandez and Bruce Sutler, who earned his ninth save. Starter Mike Krukow, 3-2, lasted just long enough — five innings — for the second-game victory. He got four fine innings of relief from Paul Reuschel, who recorded his second save.

"He's come in a few times and he's done a good job every time," Cubs Manager Herman Franks said of Reuschel. "He did a superb job today, just a superb job. Krukow pitched well. I wanted to see him work himself out of a few jags — I can't go hold his hand every time."

Steve Ontiveros and Greg Gross backed Morales with run-scoring singles in the second game, while Gross had a sacrifice fly and Larry Bittner an RBI single in the first.

Wayne Garrett drove in one Montreal run in the second game with a single and Pete Mackanin, who reached on a pinch-hit double, scored the other on a wild pitch by Krukow. Barry Foote, making his second start of the season at catcher in the opener, drove in a double and a two-run home run, his first of the year.

Ron Stanhouse, 3-5, started and lost the first game and Jackie Brown, 1-3, suffered the second-game defeat in his fourth start.

"We don't want to hit the panic button or anything," Williams said after the Expos disappointed a crowd of 31,186. But he agreed that several players who have been riding the bench acquitted themselves decently. Among them were Foote, Mackanin, first baseman Mike Jorgensen, who started the first game when Tony Perez arrived at the Olympic Stadium with a nosebleed, and third baseman Garrett.

A KISS AND A TROPHY: Ben Crenshaw, winner of $40,000 for first place in the Colonial Invitational, gets a trophy plus a kiss from his wife, Polly. Crenshaw fired a one-under-par 69 Sunday for a four-day total of 217 for the tournament. (AP Wirephoto)

'Lucky' Crenshaw Rallies For Colonial Golf Crown

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Clutching a $40,000 check, a championship ring and his blonde wife Polly, Ben Crenshaw confessed: "I'm the luckiest guy in the world."

"Something seemed to take me by the hand and lead me through the wilderness ... I hit three or four good shots on the back side and shot a 31."

"Tell me that's not lucky!" Lady Luck was indeed a kissing cousin Sunday as Gentle Ben fired a 31 on the home stretch, overtook John Schroeder and won the $200,000 Colonial National Invitational by one shot at 272.

In the end, it was a devilish eight-footer for a par at the 18th that secured him a one-under 69, the $40,000 and a second victory in his native Texas.

How sweet it was. "It feels just great to win in Texas," the 25-year-old Texan said. "After last week, nothing could be better than winning at Colonial ... as a kid, I hoped and dreamed I could win here someday.

"I guess it was just my day."

Ivo Wins

NAPIERVILLE, Que. (AP) — Tommy Ivo of Burbank, Calif., emerged as the over-all champion at the 12th Super Funny Car challenge drag race, winning in 6.77 seconds. Ivo's average speed Sunday over the quarter-mile strip was 215.82 miles per hour.

Schroeder closed with a 71 for 273 and a consolation prize of $22,900.

Crenshaw, characteristically erratic, putted brilliantly as he swept from five strokes back on the final nine to erase the bitter memory of the Byron Nelson Classic.

It was just a week earlier at Dallas that he wound up bogey-bogey and permitted Ray Floyd to slip past him for the title.

He finished Sunday at eight under after touring the par-70 Colonial course with rounds of 65-70-68-69. His four-round total was two shots off the record.

Schroeder, 31, a non-winner since 1973, entered the windswept final round a stroke ahead of Crenshaw and five in front of Tom Watson.

Watson, who pulled within two strokes of the lead at one point, took third with 67-274.

Lynn Litt, 66, tied Al Geiberger, 68, for fourth with 277. Miller Barber, 68, Ed Sneed, 71, and Butch Baird, 70, were at 279. Hubert Green and Wally Armstrong each closed with 68s for 280.

BOYS LEAGUES

Demler, R. Score had three hits and took the loss and S. Williams smashed a double.

LITTLE LEAGUE — Chris Saffell had two home runs and five RBIs to lead the Sox past the Cards 12-1. Carl Pinder led the win and smacked a double and triple and Jay Whiteaker also had a double and triple. Donald Oliver hit a double for the Sox. In the second game, the Cubs smashed the Expos 2-5. Willie Headspeth and Pat Kennedy each knocked in three runs and Tony Brackley got the win.

BENTON HARBOR — D. Long had four hits and R. Clark hit two homers to lead the L.L. Sox past Empire Pizza 26-4. Jordan was the winning pitcher. In the second game, the Big Boss Fishing Club Giants beat the Borgoin Center Reds 9-2. Brian Doss had three hits and Rodney Neal and Jerry Hogen each had two safeties.

Tigers Post Relay Records

St. Joe Titles To K-Central

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Kalamazoo Central ran away with the team championships but Benton Harbor's speedy 440 relay squads stole some of the glory in the St. Joseph Invitational Relays Saturday at Dickinson Stadium.

The Maroon Giants edged Niles 102-97 to capture the boys crown while the Central girls coasted to their title with 64 points to 43 for runnerup Portage Northern.

St. Joseph finished third in both the girls and boys competition while Benton Harbor was fourth out of five teams in the girls relays and the Tigers fifth out of seven schools in the boys meet.

The Benton Harbor 440 squads both dashed to the top of the all-time area records.

The Tigers' boys foursome of Maverick Burton, Ricky McDonald, Roy Pitts and Duane Tillman was clocked in 43.26 (rounded off to 43.3) to tie the 1970 Benton Harbor squad of Frank Atkinson, Leroy Hunt, Al Williams and Don Hopkins for first place honors.

"I think the kids can do even better, they haven't even reached their peak yet," noted Harbor coach Dick Braine. "We had a slow exchange on the third turn."

For Burton it was his second all-time record of the week as on Tuesday night the speedster set the mark of 9.6 in the 100 dash.

The Benton Harbor girls squad of Chris Jones, Sheila Atcher, Carmella Hull and Janice Alexander went 50.33 but still finished behind Kalamazoo Central's clocking of 49.6. The 50.33 ranks the best ever in southwestern Michigan and betters the time of 51.1 set by Jones, Hull, Alexander and Mozella Jones last year and by Bridgman in 1975.

The Benton Harbor 880 squad of Atcher, Alexander, Val Ward and Cheryl Clark hit 1:48.5 to move into second place on the all-time list. The St. Joseph girls also got into the record book with a sensational 4:10.7 in the mile relay, good for a second-place tie on the all-time list. The Bear squad consisted of Pat Camp, Nan McLelland, Ann Buckleitner and Martha Skinner.

Niles took five firsts in the boys meet to Kalamazoo Central's three but a key disqualification in the sprint medley relay cost the Vikings six points and the championship.

The Vikings won the mile relay, shuttle hurdle relay, two-mile relay, discus and high jump. Tim Garner's leap of 6-6 paced the high jump first while Brian Crocker tossed 132-6 to spark the discus first.

Benton Harbor and St. Joseph both ended with two firsts. In addition to the winning 440 relay, the Tiger team of McDonald, Tillman, Burton and Nicksy Bloomer also captured the medley relay.

The Bear team of John Burk, Rick Blake, Greg Zuhl and Tim Mancee took the sprint medley relay while the St. Joe trio of Ted Dongvillo, Don Hoopes and Bill Smiley grabbed the pole vault title. Hoopes went 13-0, Dongvillo 12-6 and Smiley 12-0.

Kalamazoo Central's girls chalked up eight firsts in the 13 events to dominate the field despite having a portion of its squad also competing in the Custerstock Invitational. Central is unbeaten in dual meets and now has won four invitationals this spring.

St. Joseph's lone first place came in the high jump. Jill Ziebart, Patti Koontz and Joy DeFrance combined for the win.

Suzi Berr of South Bend St. Joseph really dazzled in the two-mile run as the junior turned in 11:23.9. This was her first attempt at the two-mile as girls don't run the two-mile in Indiana. She usually runs the mile with a personal best time of 5:29.6. She beat Portage Northern's Pierce, one of the top two-milers in the state who was clocked in 11:31.5 for second.

Jim Bakken of the St. Louis Cardinals was the only NFL field goal kicker to make five in a game in the 1976 season. He did it against Green Bay on Sept. 19.

Falcons Surprise MAC Golf Leaders

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green Coach John Piper offers no explanation for the Falcons' surprisingly strong performance in the first two rounds of the Mid-American Conference Golf Championships.

"We're just happy to be where we are," Piper said of Bowling Green's solid first-place spot going into the tournament's final two rounds at Athens next Friday and Saturday.

The Falcons, with a 36-hole score of 754 on the Hueston Woods course, held a seven-stroke lead over Kent State with a 761 and an 11-stroke edge over favored Miami at 765.

Miami's Jim Fankhauser shot a second straight one-over-par 73 Saturday for a 146 and a two-stroke lead in the race for medalist honors over Tom Green of Toledo and Art Nash of Kent State, both at 148.

Gary Treater of Bowling Green had 149; and Pete Eddy of Western Michigan, Gary Lust and Jim Decker, both of Bowling Green, were at 150.

Other team scores: Western Michigan 772, Toledo 774, Ball State and Ohio University 780, Eastern Michigan 784, Central Michigan 788 and Northern Illinois 796.

Niles Paced

By Radewald

CULVER — Vern Radewald knocked in five runs with a home run and a triple to key Niles' 12-1 victory over Culver Military here Saturday.

Don Gavin added to the Vikings' hitting parade by rapping out a solo homer in the first and eventually driving home three runs. Bruce Griffie had two hits and a RBI single.

Tim Nichols got the win as Niles ups its season mark to 7-9.

Catholic Captures Twin Cities Crown

Beats St. Joe 8-2 For Title

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

If Lake Michigan Catholic needed a good tune-up to its game with Berrien Springs Tuesday, it sure got it in the Twin Cities tournament.

The Lakers captured their first title by topping Benton Harbor 11-10 and St. Joseph 8-2 in the championship game at Eaton Park. Lakeshore took consolation honors with a 12-10 win over the Tigers at the Lancers' field.

Catholic, which is in first place in the Red Arrow conference at 9-2, could go along way towards claiming the league title with a win over the 8-3 Shamrocks. The Lakers are 14-5 overall.

"Just being able to play here today was a big factor," commented Lakers' coach Gary Boyce. "The kids hit well and started to relax."

"Earlier, we had a breakdown in mechanics and the kids were starting to think about that at the plate. Now, they are just reacting."

Phil Banks was virtually untouchable in winning the title game. The junior gave up just three hits in the first seven and one-third innings before hitting a wild streak. Jon Masini struck out the last two batters to end the game.

"Phil has been a pleasant surprise," grinned Boyce. "At the beginning of the season, I was going to have him pitch for the junior varsity to get some work. His control was suspect."

"Today, his fast ball was his best pitch. He has a very lively arm and when he pushes off hard, he can turn that ball up there. He hurt his ankle about a month ago but he's pretty well recovered now."

The Lakers jumped on losing hurler Scott Dennison in the first inning by scoring three runs. Scott Mucia and Ron Maddux led off with singles, Gary Bartalone walked and John Reinhardt doubled in two runs. Bartalone later scored on a wild pitch.

In the fourth, Catholic notched three more. Bartalone and Mike Masini picked up single RBI's and Carl Morgan scored on an error.

Morgan doubled in a run and Mucia sacrificed in the other run in the seventh inning.

St. Joe's runs came in the seventh on a single by Kurt Felgner and a bases-loaded walk to Steve Ross.

The Bears had a golden opportunity to score in the third inning when they trailed by a 3-0 count. After two were out, Felgner doubled and Knuth walked.

Steve Ross then hit a single to center but Mike Masini, who had gone 0-6 including six strikeouts, fired a perfect peg to the plate to nail a sliding Felgner.

In the first game, Bartalone drove in five runs with a single, double and fielder's choice to key the win. Morgan had two hits, including a two-run homer in the third, and drove in three runs. Jim Walder got the win and Jon Masini the save.

For the afternoon, Bartalone went 4-for-8 with one double and six RBI's. Morgan was also 4-for-8 with a double, home run and four RBI's and Maddux was 3-for-6 with a double.

The Lakers had jumped out to a 4-2 lead against the Tigers after two innings. But Benton Harbor erupted for six runs after two were out to take an 8-4 lead.

Napoleon Lark doubled in a run, Charles DeFrance had an RBI single, Steve McNutt drove home two with a double, one scored on an error and Bill Schneck drove in the last run with a single.

Catholic came back to notch five runs in the fourth to put the game away. The Tigers did score twice in the seventh and had a man on second before Jon Masini retired the last man on a foul fly.

Lakeshore lost to St. Joseph 7-6 in the first game before coming back to knock off Benton Harbor. In the two games, the Lakers had 24 hits.

"I'm not pleased about losing, but I am happy about the 24 hits," commented Lakeshore's head coach, Jim Sanford.

Lakeshore tied up the game in the top of the seventh as Doug Thompson singled home Jim Turner. But the Bears pushed across the winner in the bottom of the frame as Carey Ross led off with a double and scored on Paul Knuth's single. Knuth wound up the game with four hits and Ross had a single and double.

FUTILE STRETCH: St. Joseph's Herb Ross tries to grab a wide throw by his shortstop as Lake Michigan Catholic's Scott Mucia slides safely into second in the championship game of the Twin Cities baseball tourney Sunday. The ball got away from Ross and Mucia went to third and Carl Morgan scored as the Lakers posted an 8-2 win. (Staff photo by Paul Morgan)

Red Arrow Baseball Clubs Take Non-League Beatings

Red Arrow baseball teams took a beating Saturday. Dowagiac took a doubleheader from Eau Claire by 10-0 and 5-1 scores. Coloma stopped Watervliet 7-2 and New Buffalo was trounced by LaLumiere 13-3.

Jeff Muller gave up just three hits in the first game against the Beavers. He struck out eight and walked just one.

Jeff Nate and Kim Mulder provided the hitting punch for the Chiefs. Nate smacked a three-run homer in the third frame and Mulder came through with a two-run shot in the fourth.

Brian Ratter was tagged with the loss.

The Chiefs came up with four runs in the third to ice the second contest. Jim Waalkes tripled home a pair of runs, winning pitcher Jim Brosnan had an RBI double and later scored on a double steal.

Eau Claire's lone run came in the fifth on a fielder's choice by Dave Rodgers. Will Renbarger took the loss as the Beavers slipped to 4-12.

Dan Davis had a triple and two RBI's and Tom Vapervort doubled in a tally as the Cornets up their record to 9-7.

Craig Beckman got the win while Jon Huikelman was the loser.

Art Frank was the Panthers' up hitter with two triples.

New Buffalo started off well by scoring three runs in the first inning. DuWayne Mangold hit a two-run homer and John Tuszynski had an RBI single to put the Bisons up.

But 13 walks and a hit batsman eventually spelled doom for New Buffalo which drops to 4-10.

LaLumiere is 15-1 on the year.

Final Weekend To Decide Big Ten Champ

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

For the fourth straight year, the Big Ten baseball title will be decided on the final weekend of the season. And for the second year in a row, Michigan and Minnesota are virtually assured of the top two spots.

Michigan won the crown the past two years, beating out Minnesota last season by a slim .025 percentage points. But the Gophers now lead the Wolverines by a half-game.

Minnesota is 13-2 after winning its three games this past weekend. Michigan is 13-3 after taking all four it played. Today, Minnesota plays third-place Ohio State to make up for the rained-out second game of a doubleheader Sunday.

Next Saturday Minnesota plays a doubleheader at Iowa, while Michigan State, which won all its four weekend games, plays at Michigan. It's Michigan at Michigan State Sunday to wind up the campaign. Iowa and Michigan State are tied for fourth place at 9-7.

Ohio State, with a 7-3 record, has a slim shot at first place.

In Sunday's games, Michigan pushed its winning streak to 10 games by beating Northwestern 3-2 and 5-2. Minnesota blanked Ohio State 3-0, Iowa put a pair from Indiana 8-6 and 10-1, and Michigan State beat Wisconsin twice 11-5 and 9-7.

On Saturday, Michigan beat Wisconsin 9-5 and 3-0. Minnesota defeated Indiana 4-2 and 6-0. Ohio State swept Iowa 6-0 and 2-1. Michigan State downed Northwestern 1-0 and 6-5 and Illinois split with Purdue, dropping the opener 10-7 and taking the nightcap 7-1.

Dave Chapman's two-out single in the opener drove home the winning run Sunday for Michigan. In the nightcap, Rod Wasilewski cracked a two-run homer to highlight Michigan's attack.

Michigan freshman Steve Howe hurled his fourth shutout of the season in the nightcap Saturday. In the first game, Greg Lane poked a two-run double and Mike Parker belted a three-run homer for the Wolverines.

Minnesota held on to its thin conference lead Sunday as Brian Denman fired a two-hitter and struck out six Ohio State batters.

On Saturday, Jerry Ujdur struck out nine men for Minnesota in the first game while Dan Morgan blanked Indiana on just one hit in the nightcap.

At Iowa City, Iowa bounced back from a 6-4 deficit to take the opener Sunday, then scored three runs in the third inning of the nightcap, including a two-run homer by Ron Hess, to start on its way to the rout of the Hoosiers.

Iowa was on the short end of a sweep Saturday, succumbing to Paul Semall's three-hitter in the opener and Harry Tabler's solo homer in the seventh inning to break a tie in the nightcap.

Michigan State capped a big weekend as reliever Todd Hubert picked up both victories against Wisconsin Sunday. On Saturday, Randy Hop singled home the only run of the opener against Northwestern, while Michigan State captured the nightcap with a six-run fourth inning.

Purdue picked up its first conference victory in the opener Saturday against Illinois as Dave Barnard stroked three hits and drove in three runs. But the Boilermakers suffered their 13th league setback in the nightcap as Randy Vincent hurled a one-hitter for Illinois.

Muskegon Heights Invitational Champ

Hillsdale Girls Beat RV

By JOHN VANDEN HEEDÉ
Sports Editor

NILES — Southwestern Michigan teams were no match for the balance and depth of the Muskegon Heights boys and Hillsdale girls in the seventh annual Brandywine Invitational track meet.

Muskegon Heights and Hillsdale each won all three relay events while winning championships here Saturday afternoon.

Muskegon Heights got three firsts apiece from Willie Townsell and Charles Kirks, but the Tigers had to win the last three events to edge out Wyoming Rogers 55½ to 54. Lakeshore got two wins from Tom Jager while finishing third with 42 points.

Hillsdale's Judy Sodergren captured three events while helping her girls team build a title total of 58 points. River Valley, which got two wins each from Deb Lundin and Sheila Varga, was second with 38 points. Berrien Springs stood third with 30.

The Muskegon Heights boys

trailed going into the final mile relay by one-half point, but the Tigers won the event with a record 3:36.2 clocking and took the championship.

Rogers standout Mark Poelman made a valiant effort to overcome a big Muskegon Heights lead on the last leg of the mile relay, but he came up just short. Poelman earlier had set new meet records in the 880 run (1:58.2) and mile run (4:30.7).

Heights' Townsell set a long jump record (22' 2") and was on the Tigers' winning 440 and 880 relay squads, including the 440 crew which set a record of 45.7 seconds. Kirks won both dashes and ran on the record-setting 440 relay team while helping the Tigers' roll up seven first places in the 18-event, nine-team invitational meet.

Lakeshore's Jager won both hurdles event, including 40.3 in the 330 lows which goes down as a record, even though it is a first-year event.

Host Brandywine had two firsts — Tony Mudd in the pole vault and Larry Murphy in the high jump.

In the girls portion of the meet, which was being staged for only the second time, there were 11 records in the 14 events. Hillsdale had six first places and five records and River Valley five firsts and four records.

Hillsdale's Sodergren got her three firsts by winning the 220 dash and being on record-setting 440 and 880 relay squads which had times of 53.4 and 1:52.3, respectively.

Hillsdale's other records came in the mile relay (4:33.4) and from Julie Wilson in the 880 (2:31.5) and Dee VanArsdalen in the 110 low hurdles (18.0).

River Valley's Lundin set discus (109' 7") and shot put (38' 1½") records while teammates Varga and Lori Saetre added records in the two mile (12:27.3) and 100 dash (12.0), respectively.

Other girls records came from Berrien Springs Cathy Doepper in the high jump (3' 3") and Harper Creek's Bev Mason in the 440 dash (1:02.4). There were also nine schools in the girls meet, including scoreless Brandywine.

NHL Squads Again Seek Ways To Catch Montreal

BOSTON (AP) — When the National Hockey League training camps opened last September, the major question was: Which club would go on to be beaten by the defending champion Montreal Canadiens in the Stanley Cup final?

The Boston Bruins surprisingly "won" the honor. They bowed out in four straight games, as the mighty Canadiens scored a 2-1 overtime victory Saturday night for their 20th Stanley Cup title.

The training camps for the start of the 1977-78 season are a long summer away, but already another big question is being asked. How can the Bruins, Buffalo Sabres, New York Islanders, Philadelphia Flyers or any other hopeful improve enough to beat Montreal?

"We'll be back, for sure," Boston Coach Don Cherry said. "They (the Canadiens) can't get any better, but we can. We'll be better in every way next year."

"We're not on a par with Montreal and we're not going to sit still," said Boston General Manager Harry Sinden.

Sinden is openly trying to lure Mark Howe, who has played out his contract with Houston of the World Hockey Association. Sinden thinks Howe could be another Guy Lafleur, the Canadiens' NHL scoring champion who was voted the most valuable player in the playoffs.

However, the Bruins, like other NHL clubs, figure to need more than a Mark Howe to match the Canadiens, who have incredible speed, hard, accurate shooters and a tough defense anchored by big Larry Robinson, Serge Savard and Guy Lapointe with Ken Dryden in goal.

And, possibly even more important as Coach Scotty Bowman noted, "We're a young team." Montreal lost only eight of 80 regular-season games and two of 14 playoff contests en route to the NHL title.

"I doubt if any other team will ever match this record," Bowman said without trying to boast. "We started to win last fall and we just kept going."

"You can't lose when you play for Montreal," Lapointe said. "There's so much pressure — win, win, win. They let you know that the first day you come to training camp."

"We are afraid to lose," added versatile Jim Roberts. "We want to win all the time."

"This is a great team, and with the assets it has it would be considered great in any age," said center Pete Mahovich. "No one can compare teams of different eras, but this would be a great team even if it was playing in a six-team league like the other great Canadiens' teams."

"The essence of this team is hard work," said Dryden, who had a 1.55 goals-against average in 14 playoff games. "Lafleur and Steve Shutt (a 60-goal scorer) and the defensemen add the flavor to it, but the basic reason we do so well is the effort everybody gives."

The Bruins beat Montreal three times in five games during the regular season. However, they were no match for the Canadiens with the Stanley Cup at stake, a trophy Montreal first won in 1916, the year before the NHL was founded.

The Canadiens defeated the Bruins 7-3, 3-0 and 4-2 before capturing the fourth game on two goals by Jacques Lemaire, both with assists from Lafleur. Lemaire slammed home a 10-footer on a pass from Lafleur at 4:32 of overtime, triggering the Canadiens' victory celebration.

Bonnell Key In Braves' Wild Win Over Cardinals

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The smartest move Atlanta Manager Dave Bristol made was one he didn't make. "You know, I almost pinch-hit Brian Asseltine for him in the eighth," Bristol said, referring to rookie Barry Bonnell. "That shows you what strategy really is."

Bonnell stayed in the game and slashed a two-out, three-run single to center in the eighth inning to snap a deadlock and give the Braves a wild 15-12 National League victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

Then, in the ninth, Bonnell raced to the 402-foot sign in center field to haul down Ted Simmons' drive with two men on base.

"I thought it was gone," Bonnell said. "I just ran back to the fence as fast as I could, set up and waited for it to come down."

"If Simmons' ball had gone out, I'd of felt like bombing this place with 37,000 people in it," said Bristol, savoring his first victory since April 22.

And the Braves did it the hard way.

St. Louis exploded to a 10-1 lead with a nine-run fourth inning, led by Dave Rader's 5-for-5 performance, including three doubles. But Atlanta fought back with three runs in the fifth, five in the sixth and six in the eighth.

Said losing pitcher Al Hrabosky, a reliever who had not allowed Atlanta a run in 14 games since 1975: "When you score 12 runs and lose, it's just something that isn't in the cards." In other NL games Sunday, the Chicago Cubs swept a doubleheader, beating Montreal 4-3 in the opener and 4-2 in the nightcap. Philadelphia defeated San Diego 5-2, Los Angeles nipped the New York Mets 4-3 in 12 innings. Cincinnati stopped San Francisco 6-2 and Pittsburgh defeated Houston 3-1.

Jerry Martin slammed a home run and a single to drive in two runs, backing Steve Carlton's five-hit pitching as Philadelphia downed San Diego. It was the Phillies' fourth straight victory and the fifth in a row for Carlton, 5-1, who struck out 11 and walked four.

The victory snapped Cy Young Award-winner Randy Jones' seven-game winning streak over the Phillies. Jones, 3-5, gave up four runs on nine hits while walking four in the six innings he worked.

Steve Garvey scored on John Hale's single in the 12th inning to give Los Angeles its victory over New York. Hale was a late-inning pinch-runner and defensive replacement after the Dodgers had taken a 3-1 lead on Ron Cey's two-run homer, his 12th of the season.

The Mets rallied and had runners on second and third with none out in the bottom of the 12th. But they failed to score when reliever Mike Garman, 10, got Jerry Grote on a groundout, struck out Ron Hodges and got Felix Millan to fly to left, ending the game.

Cincinnati pitcher Gary Nolan scattered four hits in

Pinch-hitter Chump Summers led the Reds' attack with his first home run in a Cincinnati uniform.

Nolan retired 10 straight batters after giving up solo homers to the Giants' Bill Madlock and Terry Witfield in the third. Lynn McGlothin, 2-1, took the loss.

Omar Moreno scored on Al Oliver's eighth-inning single, snapping a tie and boosting Pittsburgh past Houston. It was Pittsburgh's 18th victory in their last 21 games. Astros starter and loser J.R. Richard tripled, and scored on Willie Crawford's single in the seventh to knot the score at 1-1. Pirates reliever Kent Tekulve, 3-0, was the winner.

Williams Hurls Redskin Victory

PAW P — Steve Williams hurled a two-hitter, striking out 11 and walking just one, as Paw Paw blanked Gull Lake 5-0 in a Wolverine conference baseball game played here Saturday.

Dave Stockwell gave Williams all the runs he needed in the second when he stroked a two-run double. Williams had an RBI double in the third, Rick Kendall snatched a solo homer in the fourth and Kevin Brough doubled in the last run in the sixth.

The Redskins are 6-8 in the league and 6-9 overall.

Rundown Michigan Farm Becomes An Art School

By MARK SILVA
FERRY, Mich. (AP) — From the road, it looks like a fallen chicken ranch. Moving closer, still the battered barn and spread-out shacks support no sign of life.

But in the house on the hill here in Ferry, Bert Petri already has changed the course of these falling 60 acres in a new direction. Using timbers from a torn-down section of the barn, the German-born artist built a house that resembles a museum more than a home.

And this is the foundation of the Michigan Fine Arts Academy. The school, like its founder, is removed from the cultural haunts of Chicago and Detroit.

Like so many refugees from the city, Petri left his studio and work in Detroit six years ago to settle in rural Ferry.

On this broad, undeveloped land of eastern Oceana County, Petri is building a new kind of art school, following the principles of the traditional schools of Europe.

In Michigan, explains Petri, professional art schools exist only in places like Detroit, Ann Arbor or Lansing. But the pastoral setting of Ferry, he hopes, will be his school's big drawing point.

Now, Petri's salvaged acres

BERT PETRI
 Starts Arts Farm

don't look like much of a farm, let alone an art school. But classes began in April and by the end of the year Petri hopes to complete the toll which would turn this old homestead into a campus.

Studios, galleries, classrooms, stores for supplies and the sale of student work are planned. Petri even hopes to build a lake.

The first students to enroll in the fine arts academy will take instruction in Petri's home-turned-gallery.

The walls of the large, open, main room of the house are given over to the display of Petri's own works — colorful, realistic paintings of people he has known, including himself.

One wall is dominated by a painting of his grandfather wearing a German uniform of the First World War. Petri jokes that the image is a little too militaristic, but the grandfather seems to keep a peaceful watch over his descendant, the artist and emigre.

Petri migrated from Germany in 1936, when he was 31 years old. He left Erfurt, one of the oldest cities in Germany, where he was educated at the Fine Arts Academy. He left a very old world — Martin Luther had been ordained a priest in Erfurt, in 1507 — and came to Detroit, where he would learn the attitudes of the newest world.

Having worked as a commercial artist, he describes his move to Oceana County as an escape from the constricting workaday world.

Slumming the frustrating routine of city work, Petri has found employment here, teaching art at various school systems part-time and painting the rest of the time.

"Basically," he said, "I live for painting."

GED Testing Slated At LMC

The General Education Development test, designed to recognize and certify the achievement of an educational level equivalent to high school, will be administered by Lake Michigan college on Monday, May 23, through Wednesday, May 25.

According to Gordon J. Dahm, director of the GED testing program at LMC, the series of examinations will be given from 6 to 10 p.m. in Room D-201 on the Napier avenue campus.

"Successful accomplishment of this test serves several useful purposes, including qualifying for admission to Lake Michigan college, satisfying Armed Forces educational requirements, and meeting educational requirements for employment and job advancement," Dahm said.

The GED test battery consists of five examinations, each taking up to two hours to complete. The total test requires from two to three nights to finish. Each person tested is allowed to proceed at his own speed.

Fee for the test is $15. Those interested in taking the test either can contact Dahm at LMC at 927-4571, Ext. 259 for further information, or simply report to the first test session at 6 p.m. Monday, May 23, in Room D-201 and begin the examination.

Top BH Band Members Going To Music Camp

Benton Harbor Band Parents recently awarded scholarships to outstanding members of the Benton Harbor high school band and the three junior high school bands.

Scholarships are the result of the Band Parents' fund-raising projects held throughout the year. Fund also are raised to purchase BH band blankets for all graduating senior bandmen and assist in band program needs.

The Interlochen National Music Camp scholarship was awarded to Karol Blustock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. DaWayne Blustock, of 4213 Territorial road. Miss Blustock will be a night school senior next year and has been an active member of the BHHS bands for three years. She will spend two weeks at the music camp in Interlochen, Mich. this summer.

Other high school summer band scholarships were awarded to, Diane Leuty; David Nowlen; Sandy Davis; Jo Haupt; and Kathy Dombroski.

Three junior high students were awarded one-week scholarships to Camp Wakemah music camp in Three Rivers. From Hull 7-8 grade center, Kenneth Spitzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Spitzer, 1565 US 43 North, Benton Harbor 7-8 grade center, Jacqueline Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Baker of Benton Harbor; and from Fairplain 7-8 grade center, Glenn Bizer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Bizer, 1782 East Oden, Fairplain.

Junior high students receiving summer band scholarships include: From Hull 7-8 — Kenneth Johnson, Bobbie Martin and Sherman Jones. From Fairplain 7-8 — Daniel Opalski, Kenneth Nash, Delbert Morris, Douglas Morris, Douglas Fowler, and Sue Menchinger. From Benton Harbor 7-8 — Gayle Bolin, Elene Ewell, Donna Worford, Christine Anderson and Little Buschburg.

Benton Harbor Band Parents will sell Blossomtime programs at the Blossomtime parade May 21, and will start next year's fund-raising at the Youth Fair this summer.

Hull School Slates Orientation Friday

Sixth grade students from Johnson, Bard, Martindale, North Shore, and Millburg schools in the Benton Harbor school system will attend an orientation session Friday at Hull 7-8 grade center.

The students will tour the school, meet teachers, eat lunch, and review next year's class schedule, according to Principal John Cooper.

"We like to introduce the students to a typical junior high day," Cooper said. "The change from elementary study to secondary is a major one, and frequently students are nervous or apprehensive."

He said the sixth-graders will assemble in the Hull gym to review the school handbook, discipline code, students' rights and responsibilities, and hear presentations from the guidance counselor and assistant principal.

He said students will have lunch and tour the building, and then follow the class schedule they will use next September, attending classes in 15-minute sessions.

Hull junior high school students will be dismissed at 10:15 a.m., so the orientation program can take place. All visiting students will be returned to their elementary schools for dismissal at regular times, according to the school system.

Source Of Electricity

They're Windmill Fans

By MARILYN RILEY
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Chuck Tellas and Craig Toepfer are not just tiling at windmills. The two have finished restoring an old Jacobs wind electric plant which now is perched atop a 75-foot tower and producing electricity on Tellas' farm in York Township.

The working windmill is the culmination of five years of experimenting with different energy sources that Tellas hopes will help him build an energy-independent home on his 10 acres of land.

As well as working on the do-it-yourself wind project, Tellas plans to install a solar collector system on his hog shed-turned-workshop to see what combination of energy sources eventually can free him from the grip of the utility companies and foreign countries.

"I look on it as casting away some chains," he said.

"We depend on the Arab countries for our lives, really. I like the idea of being independent because it means one less person to rely on for your well-being."

Tellas, a nuts-and-bolts man, is manager of Milan Screw Products. Toepfer is a mechanical engineer who wants to show people they can have control over their energy needs.

The tower took hundreds of hours to build and install.

"It took one person on the ground recovering while the other was up on the tower with white knuckles," Tellas recalls. From the top of the tower, the pair can see the Enrico Fermi nuclear power plant near Monroe.

As Toepfer explains it, the idea of making electricity with wind plants is in many ways the opposite of the idea of generating power at Fermi.

Power companies have built huge generating stations and have spent years trying to figure how to best distribute the energy to homes and industries. With wind power, Toepfer says, the energy source already is distributed but the problem is one of storing power produced during windy periods for use when the wind dies.

"We've spent the past 75 years developing a distribution system, when we might have been better off developing a good storage system, or at least looking into that angle," says Toepfer.

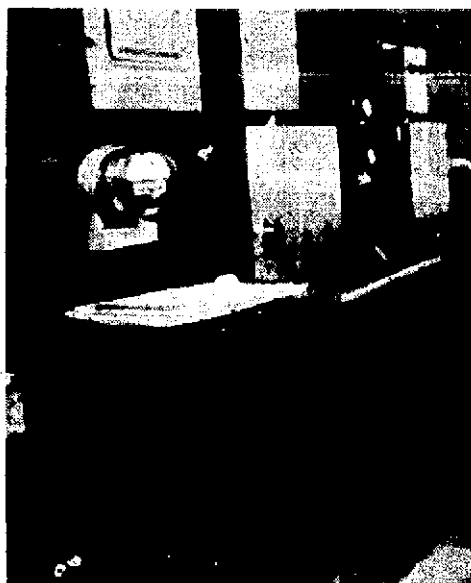

In the Tellas system, power produced by the wind generator is stored in a bank of 16 large batteries. The batteries are better than the ones used in wind systems on farms in the plains states earlier this century, but about 20 per cent of the power generated is lost in the storage process, Toepfer explains.

Unlike other forms of power production, wind generators have the advantage of being clean.

"They don't produce sulphur dioxide or raditate," says Toepfer.

Also, he says, the technology is fairly simple and has been around since the early 1900s, but not much information has been passed on.

Toepfer has set up his own small company, Windpendence Electric Co., to collect, rebuild and sell old wind generators.

Scale Model Will Help Consumers Build New Plant

JACKSON, Mich. — A precision-built scale model will assist Consumers Power company in construction of its future electric generating unit at the J.H. Campbell plant in Port Sheldon township west of Grand Rapids.

Engineers, construction personnel and future operators will use the model to avert construction delays and increase operating efficiency once the plant goes "on line" in 1980.

Max P. Shrontz, project manager, said the use of models is becoming more common in the design and construction of power plants because of their increasing complexity.

"By building a model first, you come as close as you can to building the plant twice, but you save a lot of money by making design, construction and engineering changes on the model rather than during actual construction," Shrontz said.

"For example, he said, much of the sub-contracting work on a large project like Campbell Unit 3 will not be big out until the work needs to be started. A sub-contractor will be able to look at the model and determine exactly the dimensions of the job, enabling him to give us a more accurate estimate of costs."

The new $50 million unit will bring the Campbell Plant's capability to 1,439 megawatts, the largest coal-fired plant in Consumers Power's system, which serves more than 1.2 million customers.

The model has already saved future expenditure of money by alerting architects and engineers to potential problems that had not been considered in engineering drawings, Shrontz said.

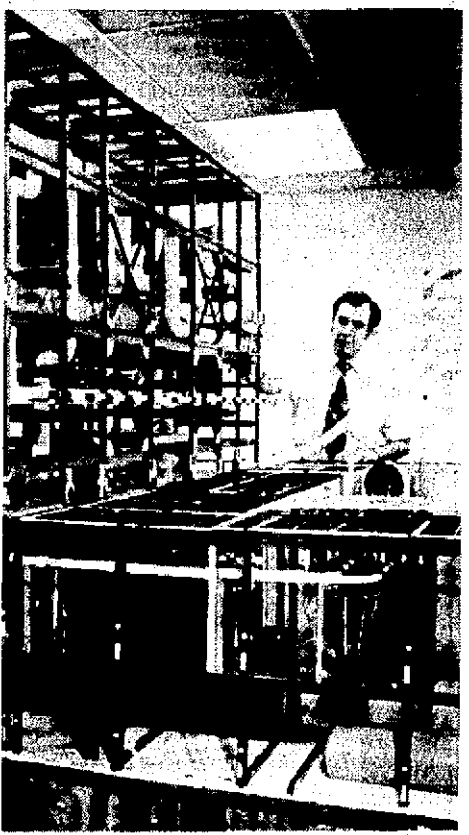

In a project the magnitude of an 800-megawatt coal-fired unit, engineering drawings sometimes are so complicated that conflicts occur later during placement of equipment, or conditions are created that can cause operating or maintenance problems," he explained.

Raul J. Caballero is model coordinator for Commonwealth Associates Inc., Jackson, Mich., an engineering firm that is building the model for Consumers Power. He pointed to a place on the model where modelers noted that structural steel would interfere with removal of a heating unit when repair or replacement was needed.

After conferring with Thomas E. Crumlish, project engineer for Campbell Unit 3, the modelers relocated the section of horizontal steel and drawings were changed to conform.

"The model eliminates so many of the unknowns that can accompany a major construction job," Shrontz said. "It also will help the construction workers on the site. They can see exactly where a steam pipe, for example, is placed for its entire length. And the men who will operate the plant are familiar with it even before they begin actual operation."

The model is a first for Consumers Power for a generating plant, according to Shrontz, "and you'll see a lot more of this in fossil-fueled plants because they are becoming more and more complicated as environmental and efficiency considerations multiply. Many nuclear plants already have been built with the aid of models."

MODEL PLANT: This scale model will help Consumers Power Company construct and operate its new 800,000 kilowatt coal-fired electric generating unit at the J.H. Campbell Plant in Port Sheldon township. Raul J. Caballero, model coordinator, inspects the assembled model, built to a scale of three-eighths inch-to-a foot.

Six New Buffalo Students Earn Scholarships

NEW BUFFALO — Six New Buffalo high school seniors have been awarded scholarships by local organizations, according to school officials.

Ronald Gifford and Cynthia Kail are recipients of $500 Lions club scholarships; Robert Oberdorfer has been awarded the $500 New Buffalo Jaycees scholarship; Barbara Ballew the $500 Service League's Mary Ann Frey Memorial scholarship; Sharon Schulz, a $500 Women's club grant; and Paul Zdanis, a $350 New Buffalo PTO scholarship.

Gifford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Gifford, 132 South Clinton street, New Buffalo, plans to attend the University of Michigan to study law or psychology.

Miss Kail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kail, 127 South Barton street, New Buffalo, plans to attend Central Michigan University.

Oberdorfer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Oberdorfer, 11040rd street, New Buffalo, plans to attend Michigan State University.

Miss Ballew, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ballew, 134 South Barker street, will major in social science at Michigan State University.

and Mrs. Donald Schulz, 1125 Shore drive, New Buffalo, will begin her studies of foreign languages at Lake Michigan college.

Zdanis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Zdanis, 16 East Detroit street, New Buffalo, plans to attend Adria college majoring in English and journalism.

TV Networks 'Sentenced'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The three television networks would be in prison for a total 3,633 years if convicted of every crime they showed during one week of prime time television.

That's the conclusion of a study by National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting, an anti-TV violence group.

"Viewers ought to know that prime time is also crime time," said Nicholas Johnson, former Federal Communications commissioner who now heads the anti-violence group.

NBC led the other networks with a "sentence" of 1,485 years. CBS would have to serve 1,065 years and ABC 1,083 years, the group said.

Law students at Howard University Law School here monitored each network's prime time broadcasts and assessed the prison terms based on California's penal code, considered one of the most up-to-date.

The group suggested that viewers "write the networks to ask for credit for the criminal instruction that the commercial networks have been kind enough to provide them.

"Viewers should provide written evidence that they remember enough of the crime that they could repeat it in their own community for local credit," the committee said.

Assuming the week that was monitored was typical, Johnson calculated that at the end of a year NBC would have about 77,000 punishable years of crime. CBS 56,600 and ABC 50,500.

Jazz Buff Spends Mint For Her Own Night Spot

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Rosalie Wilson is one of the rich people F. Scott Fitzgerald said are different from you and me. When this 22-year-old couldn't find the kind of music she liked for her lonely, late-night forays, she gave up looking — and built her own place.

It's an $800,000, two-story converted warehouse in art deco style, hanging plants and the best jazz talent available at any price.

From Bobby Short to Gato Barbieri, musicians have come to Rosy's, in an uptown warehouse district hard by the Mississippi River, to perform in a town where imported jazz is a rarity.

Almost to a player, they agree that Rosy's, with plush surroundings and near-perfect sound, is unique. So is the woman who fantasized the whole thing on a summer night in 1975.

"Rosalie believes that the people who play her club are artists and should be treated like artists," says Michael Davenport of Los Angeles, who does the booking for Rosy's and manages jazz violinist Jean Luc Pigny. "So many club owners treat the musicians like servants. Rosy isn't like that — she had a desire to build the club for music rather than a desire to make money."

Making a lot of money probably wasn't necessary, even if that had been Rosalie Wilson's intent. She was already rich — an heir to a fortune valued at $23.3 million when her father and mother died within 10 months of each other in 1972.

The money came from J. Ray McDermott Co., a huge oil construction and engineering firm.

Because of her wealth, Rosy never worked before she opened her club. She is reluctant to discuss either her money or her personal life. Overweight, she refuses to have her picture taken.

"I was driving around town very late at night alone ... when a very strong desire came over me," she says. "I had this fantasy. I wanted to build a facility totally dedicated to music."

The first step was a building. After almost buying one structure, she purchased a dilapidated warehouse that had just been sold for $25,000 for use as an art studio.

"The place was a catastrophe," Rosy says. "I offered the new buyer almost twice the price he had paid and I got the building. But it was almost on the condemned list — what we bought was a shell."

She kept the brick facade and gutted the inside, adding a glass atrium where there had been a 30-foot-high opening. The area below the atrium became a restaurant.

The building still looks like a warehouse outside. Inside is a pastiche of tasteful Art Deco that took Rosy and Los Angeles interior designer Donna Vaccaro more than a quarter of a million dollars and a year of searching to find — like Andy Warhol silk screens, a pair of three-foot-high blue urns from the front of the Pasadena Civic Center and intricate multilevel brass light fixtures — including a pair salvaged from a Watts junkyard.

The music room brings images of Humphrey Bogart and Dorothy Wilson, of late nights and velvet fog. Dim lights bask the audience of 250 and the waitresses glide among the circular tables almost unnoticed during performances.

The sound system, beginning with large Klipschorn speakers, cost $50,000 and is worthy of a recording studio.

Upstairs, where the crowds don't go, the musicians can relax in a soft, comfortable dressing room, with a catered buffet and a bartender on duty.

Most Of Missing Silver Recovered

DETROIT (AP) — A 40-year-old man was to appear in municipal court today on charges of receiving and concealing stolen property in the theft of antique silver worth $50,000 from the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Police said they recovered most of the 18th Century American silver from a Grosse Pointe jeweler who said he bought the objects at a private Christmas party last year for less than $5,000. The jeweler was not aware at the time that the pieces were stolen, police said.

Norman Goodwin of Farmington was named in the warrant and scheduled to appear in Grosse Pointe Municipal Court.

Among the 13 items stolen from museum storage sometime during 1975-76 were a rare silver bowl made by silversmith Meyer Myers, valued at about $25,000; an $8,000 sugar bowl by Godfrey Shilling of Philadelphia; and a drinking vessel by Boston silversmith Daniel Henchman worth $1,300.

Richard Rubens, chief of security at the Institute, said an investigation into the thefts was continuing and more arrests were expected. Some of the stolen pieces still are missing, he said.

RECYCLING SAVES

CHICAGO (AP) — Of the 120 billion gallons of water per day used by industry in 1975, 78 billion were recycled, according to a Commerce department study.

Diabetes To Be Topic At Memorial

The Berrien county unit of the American Diabetes association will sponsor an educational program about diabetes on Wednesday at the Forum in St. Joseph Memorial hospital. The program is free and open to the public and will begin at 7:30 p.m. Martha Smiley, head dietician at Memorial, will speak on diets and summer picnic plans for the diabetic.

Area Scouts 'Show Their Stuff' In Berrien

SCOUT-O-RAMA TOWER: Nearly 1400 scouts from 82 units in Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties participated in annual Scout-O-Rama at youth fairgrounds, Berrien Springs, Friday evening through Sunday morning. Show by Cub, Boy and Explorer scouts which was open to public Saturday afternoon drew an estimated 12,000 to 15,000 visitors, according to William Góbert of Stevensville, show chairman. Here, scouts enjoy view of annual event from wooden watchtower they constructed. One of many displays, it was built by members of Troop 162, sponsored by Keeler General Baptist church, Keeler. Coloma Ambulance Drive Tops $8,000

COLOMA — With the fund drive for the Coloma Emergency Ambulance service only three weeks old, donations from area residents and organizations have raised $8,200 as of Saturday, according to Marvin Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the service.

The non-profit all-volunteer ambulance service, now in its 10th year of operation, is seeking $11,000 in operating funds for 1977 and 1978.

"The average donation," said Taylor, "is $10 and $15 and comes from among the 3,800 Coloma township-city residents who received letters from the service in late April."

The free ambulance service is comprised of 16 members, none of whom are paid for their time, with the service only obtaining its finances through fund drives held every two years and other donations received between drives.

Taylor said, "We're pleased with the response and hopefully we'll exceed the goal before mid summer. The $11,000 goal established last month was the same amount sought in 1975, and any excess donations will offset unforeseen increases in the operation of the service."

ROPE BRIDGE: Line of youngsters await their turn to walk across rope bridge constructed by scouts of Lawrence Troop 197. Smaller rope bridges were also included in the annual Boy Scout Scout-O-Rama Saturday at youth fairgrounds, Berrien Springs.

UNUSUAL RIDE: Youngster enjoys ride top 55-gallon oil drum while scouts from Watervliet Troop 661 pull ropes to give up and down motion. Scouts participating in annual Scout-O-Rama came from Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties.

South Haven
Will Stage
Fish Safari

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — An estimated 100 sports fishing boats will be competing for approximately $25,000 in prize money at the 6th annual South Haven fishing safari Friday and Saturday, May 20-21. The contest is sponsored by the Greater South Haven Area Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association.

The contest has been expanded to allow 100 boats to compete instead of the 75 of previous years. The winning boat will receive 25 per cent of the prize money. The next 10 boats will share varying percentages of the prize money. Each boat will be allowed three fishermen and a limit of 15 fish caught per session. Points will be awarded on the basis of length and weight. Species eligible will include coho, chinook and Atlantic salmon, lake, brown and rainbow trout and steelheads.

Fishing sessions will be Friday from noon to 4 p.m. and on Saturday from 6 a.m. to 1 p.m. In case of inclement weather on Friday there will be two fishing sessions Saturday. The fish that are caught will be weighed and measured at the South Haven Yacht club. A banquet for competing fishermen will be held Friday at Fidelman's Resort. A fish fry will follow Saturday's competition.

Crowd Swamps
Warren Dunes;
May Be Record

BRIDGMAN — Warren Dunes state park here may have set an all-time attendance record yesterday and definitely caused a massive headache for state police who spent five hours ordering improperly parked cars towed away. Officials at the park located south of here on the Lake Michigan shoreline estimated attendance between 24,000 and 25,000 people.

State police at New Buffalo reported they had 56 unattended cars towed away and another 10 motorists who were at their cars were issued tickets for improper parking.

Robert Vanderwall, assistant park manager, said that yesterday's attendance was the highest in memory of officials there. Records are being checked to see if a record was set, he added.

When some 2,300 parking spaces became full at 1 p.m., park gates were closed to auto traffic and not reopened until 2:45 p.m., Vanderwall said.

In the meantime, motorists began parking along Red Arrow highway near the park entrance — in areas marked tow-away zones. Trooper Donald Beck reported. Autos were also parked on nearby private property and on surrounding side roads, the trooper added. Nine wreckers, from as far as Benton Harbor, worked from 2 until 7 p.m. in removing the autos, Beck said.

Flames Engulf
Twp. Garage

SOUTH HAVEN — Fire early today extensively damaged a garage at the Mitchell Brothers trailer park, 76th street, South Haven township.

South Haven firemen said the garage was engulfed in flames when they arrived shortly after 1:30 a.m. The fire appeared to have originated near an electrical box, but an exact cause has not been determined, firemen said.

Meet Candidates Night Scheduled May 24 In SJ

The St. Joseph Education association will sponsor a "Meet the Candidates" night Tuesday, May 24, for the five contenders for two seats on the St. Joseph school board. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the St. Joseph high school auditorium, according to Miss Virginia Antonson, a spokesman for the association. Both seats at stake in the annual school election June 13 are four-year terms.

Candidates are incumbent John Pielemeier, 1107 St. Joseph drive, St. Joseph; and challengers William Beilman, 2221 Pioneer road, St. Joseph; Mrs. Charles (Joanne) Averill, 3453 Valley View drive, St. Joseph township; Mrs. Charles (Nancy) Worthington, 2824 Thayer drive, St. Joseph; and Atty. F.A. (Mike) Jones, 227 North Sunnybank road, St. Joseph. Mrs. Frank (Beverly) Linn, whose term expires this year, did not seek re-election.

Hearing Slated On Lake Blvd. Reconstruction

A public hearing will be held Tuesday in the St. Joseph city commission chambers in city hall on the proposed reconstruction of Lake boulevard. The hearing will start at 7:30 p.m. to hear comments from the public on the project that proposes to widen and resurface Lake boulevard from Main street to Port street, according to City Manager G.W. Hepler.

Cost of the project is estimated at $281,000 with the federal government providing 70 per cent of the total. The project has drawn opposition from the Lake Bluff Preservation association which objects to the widening because of claimed traffic hazards and damage to the esthetics of the street.

Benton Police Learn 'Missing' Woman Safe

Mrs. Earline Head of Benton township, who had been reported missing since May 7, has been visiting in Chicago, Benton township police said. Police said Mrs. Head's daughter, Regina Love, 155 Madeline avenue, Benton township, came to the police station at 1:38 p.m. Saturday and asked that a missing person report be cancelled. Police said Mrs. Love reported she had talked to her mother on the telephone and her mother was safe in Chicago. Mrs. Head, 975 North Shore drive, had been reported by her daughter as missing. A photograph of Mrs. Head was published in Saturday's Herald-Palladium.

Seven Die On State's Highways

An unborn baby and a 54-year-old pedestrian killed in a hit-and-run accident were among at least seven traffic victims on Michigan highways over the weekend, State Police reported.

George Burkett, 52, of Dearborn, was leaving a friend's home in Wyandotte when a car ran a red light, struck Burkett and sped from the scene, police reported.

A 24-year-old Detroit man was arrested about 20 minutes later in Southgate, based on a description of the car seen leaving the scene, Wyandotte police said. A warrant was to be sought charging the man with manslaughter.

An unborn baby girl was the victim in a two-car crash Friday night in Clayton Township of Genesee County. Suffering injuries were the mother and several other persons, authorities reported.

Two motorcycleists died over the weekend, police reported.

Daniel Hartnett, 35, of Ellsworth, was killed Friday night when his motorcycle went out of control on an Antrim County road and struck a tree.

A motorcycleist, Leon Skrzysinski, 22, of Pinconning, was killed Friday night when he was struck by a truck in Pin-conning Township of Bay County.

Other victims: —Frank Duane, 40, of Detroit, the driver in a car involved in a head-on crash Saturday on Interstate 96 in Brighton Township of Livingston County.

—John Buechner Jr., 23, of Hartford, the driver of a car that ran into a farm implement Friday night in Van Buren County's Lawrence Township.

—Edward W. Evatz, 48, of Grosse Pointe Shores, the driver of a car that ran off the road and struck a tree Sunday morning on Lake Shore Road in Wayne County.

Homosexual Prostitution Ring Probed

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago police say an investigation of child pornography has led to evidence of a nationwide organization that allegedly lures runaway youths into becoming male prostitutes to serve wealthy homosexuals.

The ring, headquartered in Chicago, has been sending young boys to all parts of the nation, police said Sunday. The Chicago Tribune reported that police in Chicago, Los Angeles and Dallas are participating in the investigation.

Officers said they were close to identifying six key adult members of the prostitution ring called the Delta Project. Authorities reportedly also are searching for 20 juvenile boys connected with the ring.

Authorities said a clandestine newsletter known as Hermes is published in Chicago to promote the ring. The newsletter also allegedly promotes the use of minors as models and actors in pornographic films.

The newsletter says the aim of Delta Project is "to provide educational, travel and self-development opportunities for qualified young men of character and integrity."

Part of Delta Project was the establishment of "Delta-Dorms" around the country. According to the newsletter, "each (Delta-Dorm) is a private residence where one of our sustaining members acts as a 'don' for two to four 'cadets' ... The nature of the relationship between the cadet and the sponsor is left entirely to the two of them."

Authorities said Delta Project began in the Cook County Jail last spring when one or more inmates began using the jail's printing facilities to publish the newsletter secretly.

The Tribune said John Norman, 49, a convicted sodomist serving a four-year sentence in the Illinois state prison at Pontiac, admitted that he started the newsletter in the jail while he was awaiting trial on charges of taking indecent liberties with 10 teen-age boys.

"This has nothing to do with sex," Norman told the newspaper in an interview at the prison. "I didn't want to get young kids involved in sex."

The Tribune said authorities have labeled the "dons" as adults with a sexual preference for children. The authorities claim the cadets are really prostitutes, the Tribune said.

The male prostitution evidence surfaced during a pornography investigation that resulted in the arrests of two men Saturday, police said.

The two were arrested for allegedly using two 14-year-old boys in a pornographic movie which they intended to distribute across the nation, police said. The men were identified by authorities as David Berta, 32, and John Bell, 19, both of Chicago.

They were charged with taking indecent liberties with a child.

RETIRING PRINCIPAL HONORED: Mrs. Maxine Brule, was honored last night at dinner during "Maxine Brule Day" honoring her for educational career spanning 40 years, including 15 years as principal of Washington elementary school, Coloma. Mrs. Brule will retire at end of current school year. Joining Mrs. Brule was Kay Erickson, center, Coloma school board member, holding plaque from board for years of dedicated service. Mrs. Brule's husband, John (right), hold plaque from Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals, Region five. Estimated 200 persons attended banquet held in Coloma high school cafeteria. Earlier, an open house was held at Washington elementary school. (Cliff Stevens photo)

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The United Auto Workers and President Carter are headed for a face-to-face confrontation this week over the Administration's plan to tax gas-guzzling cars and give rebates on fuel-efficient models.

Retiring UAW President Leonard Woodcock blasted Carter's tax-rebate plan Sunday at the opening session of the union's national convention. He urged Carter to withdraw the proposal, saying it is "absolutely unnecessary."

Carter is scheduled to address the 6,000 UAW conventioners attending the six-day conference Tuesday. He is likely to encounter strong opposition from UAW officials who say his energy program will cost them jobs.

"We have got to begin to do something about energy conservation, and I am thankful the Administration is tackling that problem," said Woodcock, 68, who officially ends his seven-year reign as UAW president Wednesday. Vice President Douglas A. Fraser is running unopposed to succeed him.

Carter's tax plan initially calls for a maximum $488 tax on new cars getting less than 13 miles per gallon. The tax would get tougher each year, hitting a maximum $2,488 in 1985. Rebates of up to about $500

President Faces Confrontation In Speech To Union Tuesday

"But," Woodcock added, "We are opposing the Administration on the so-called gas-guzzler tax and rebate parts of his energy package ... not simply because it would affect the automobile industry, but because it is absolutely unnecessary and an unwise policy."

"Sometimes people in Washington seem to forget what (is) the gas-guzzling family: the man and his non-working wife and five kids with a nine-passenger station wagon but no that those families use," he said, adding that about half of Detroit's full-size cars are bought by one-car families.

Despite his harsh attack on that portion of Carter's energy package, which echoed objections from auto industry executives, Woodcock has maintained a good personal relationship with the President. Carter has selected Woodcock to become chief U.S. envoy to China. Woodcock was the first national union head to endorse Carter's would be given on cars getting more than 39 m.p.g.

Woodcock said the President's goal of reducing gasoline consumption by 10 per cent by 1985 can be accomplished under a fuel-economy law already on the books, and without the tax-rebate plan.

That law requires automakers to improve their new cars' average fuel economy each year until reaching a minimum average of 27.5 m.p.g. in 1985, double the mileage of 1974 cars. Woodcock said the tax-rebate plan "is wrong, not properly thought through and should be withdrawn because the law that is on the books already does the job."

He added that if foreign cars are included in the plan, most would qualify for hefty rebates to the detriment of American jobs.

"We'd be taking $200 million every year of American tax money and shipping it out to Japan and Germany and other places," he said. "That policy makes absolutely no sense."

Under the federal fuel economy law, for each one m.p.g. by which an automaker exceeds the minimum mileage standard, the firm would be fined $50 for each car it built that model year. In the case of General Motors, the nation's biggest car producer, the fine for exceeding the standard by one m.p.g. would be about $250 million.

Woodcock said the convention might adopt a resolution to increase the fine "to make absolutely sure the job (of meeting the fuel economy standards) is done."

(foreign makers) are coming back to wreak social havoc on this country," Brown said.

GOV. EDMUND BROWN
'Make Them Here'

Brown Decries Imported Autos

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. said Sunday if Japanese automakers want to sell cars in this country, they "ought to make them here."

Speaking at the opening session of the United Auto Workers' national convention, Brown said Japan is using technology developed in the United States and cheap labor at home to "drive American workers off the job."

"We let all these products come in here. Why don't we ask them to put some factories in here and let some American workers ... get some of the action," he said. "Let's have a Japanese plant in America."

"If we're going to buy them (Japanese cars), let's buy them with American workers."

Brown traveled to Japan this spring to urge several major automakers to establish car-building operations on the West Coast. Volkswagen, the West German car producer, will begin assembling cars in western Pennsylvania next year.

Brown said Congress should take steps to curb the growth of the import car market, which is strongest in his home state. Imports, mostly low-priced Japanese models, account for nearly half the California new-car market, more than double the national average.

"Because of our foreign investment (and) with exploitation of cheap foreign labor, they

Twin Cities Clergy To Take CPR Class

Members of the Twin Cities Clergy association will take training in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) and first aid officers at their meeting Tuesday.

Rev. Arnold Bolin, association president, said the meeting will start with lunch at noon in the executive dining room at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

The 1 p.m. meeting in the Forum at Memorial will consist of election of officers and CPR training by Lloyd Phillips, a volunteer trainer with the Red Cross.

Rev. Bolin said: "It would be hard to find a more practical application for our faith and call than to know how to save a person's life through CPR."

Woodcock Bids Union Farewell

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leonard Woodcock has said goodbye to the United Auto Workers, calling the union a "great organization. I cherish it and I love it."

Woodcock, 68, retires Wednesday to end a four-decade labor career. The last seven years as UAW president. He gave his farewell address Sunday at the opening session of the union's 25th national convention here.

"I have mixed emotions, contradictory feelings as I make my final report to you," Woodcock said, his eyes turning red.

"These seven years have been rich and rewarding. They have been a time of troubles, but they also have been a time of triumphs."

"... All of you have been more than good to me. This union has been more than good to me ..."

"I have been asked if I leave with regret. No, I don't leave with regret. I leave satisfied that the union is in great shape. I leave satisfied that it's just as good a union as it ever was. I leave satisfied that the new administration will be a great one that will carry on."

Woodcock, who received a standing ovation from the 6,000 conventioners after he concluded his remarks, officially steps down Wednesday. That is the day when Vice President Douglas A. Fraser, 60, running without opposition, is expected to be elected head of the 1.4-million member union.

Woodcock drew a chuckle, and applause, from the conventioners earlier when he referred to his recent selection by President Carter to become chief U.S. envoy to China.

Woodcock said he has found it "impossible to shift my mental gears to think about, 'Okay, what do you do come next Thursday?' I'll be able to think about that — maybe — in Peking."

Detroit Art Theft Disclosed

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Institute of Arts has disclosed that several silver hand-crafted pieces valued at some $50,000 were stolen from the museum's storage department sometime during 1975-1976.

A spokesman for the museum said the Wayne County prosecutor's office has issued a warrant against charging an individual with receiving and concealing stolen property. The spokesman declined to identify the individual.

The stolen objects include a large American silver chalice dating back to pre-Revolutionary times.

Several of the missing objects have been recovered, the spokesman said, but other pieces of silver are still missing.

The spokesman said the objects were acquired by the Art Institute during the period 1902-1955.

"Recovery of the objects following information provided to the museum by an informed source who recognized the works as owned by the Art Institute," the museum said in a formal statement.

SJ Girl Is First Runner-Up

HOUGHTON — Nancy Jo Carlson, St. Joseph, was first runner-up in the Military Ball queen competition at Michigan Technological university here Saturday night, according to a university spokesman.

Nancy, a senior business administration student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Carlson Jr. of 825 Wisconsin avenue, St. Joseph.

BH Elementary Principals Get Special Honors

Three Benton Harbor Area schools elementary principals have received recognition from the Michigan Association of Elementary School Principals, a statewide organization of school administrators.

Ann Kennedy, principal at Fairplain East-Northeast schools, will attend a leadership conference at Camp Kett this summer on a scholarship provided by the regional MAESP. The conference is designed to build professional school leadership skills.

James Ray, principal at Bard, and Rance Decker, principal at Fairplain West-Northeast schools, have completed requirements for a MAESP professional certificate as elementary school principals.

The certificate is granted after five years service as a principal and the successful completion of 30 semester hours of graduate school, including 20 hours in administration, curriculum, and supervision. It is part of a program to upgrade the professional standards of elementary principals.

WARNING ADEQUATE?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The National Weather Service says it adequately warned eastern Kentucky residents about last month's damaging floods, although it admits it underestimated river crests.

Charter Changes Pondered

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — The city's charter commission is pondering possible revisions in a proposed new city charter rejected by the voters. In a turnout of 13 per cent of the voters, the charter went down to defeat Tuesday, 986-774. The proposal would have established an elected city council to appoint a city manager with broad powers. At present, the elected council appoints a city director with somewhat lesser powers. The mayor, for instance, controls the police and fire departments. The charter commission, elected in November 1975, scheduled a meeting in two weeks to decide whether to present the proposal again, to present an amended version, or to do nothing and disband.

To Spruce Up Neighborhood

DETROIT (AP) — A rundown area on Detroit's East Side is being dubbed "Renaissance Center II" by a group of 60 businessmen determined to spruce up the neighborhood. Renaissance Center is Detroit's gleaming $331 million new downtown riverfront complex of offices, restaurants and the 75-story Plaza Hotel. Riverside Industrial Corridor is headed by William McQueen of Beam Industries Inc. He says there is definitely potential in the drab area.

Shotgun Victim Is Stable

NILES — Leonard Shell, 51, wounded Friday night by a gunman who held five of his family members hostage afterward, was reported in stable condition today in Pawating hospital here.

Shell of US-12 in Cass county's Milton township near Niles was struck by a shotgun blast as the gunman approached the Shell home.

The gunman kept Shell's wife, two daughters, a son and his mother in the house at gunpoint for several hours before surrendering to police. No one else was hurt.

Ronald Stone, 19, Granger, Ind., is to be arraigned in Cass county Fourth District court today on a charge of assault with a firearm as a result of the shooting.

Stone was reported to have dated one of Shell's daughters at one time.

Graham Big Hit At Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham proved he could draw as well as the Fighting Irish football team when he attracted 45,000 persons to his final sermon at the University of Notre Dame's stadium.

The crowd Sunday was the largest ever on campus for anything other than a football game. Graham's crusade, his first at a Roman Catholic institution, drew 95,000 persons over a five-day period.

The crowds were large enough to force a shift from the indoor Athletic and Convocation Center to the outdoor stadium, which seats 50,000 persons.

Sonny Will Murry Again; Not To Cher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonny Bono is planning to marry a 23-year-old Maryland woman in November, a spokesman for the entertainer says.

Jay Bernstein said Sunday that the 40-year-old Bono, who has been married and divorced twice, proposed Saturday night to Susie Coelho. They have known each other two years, Bernstein said.

Bono and his second wife, Cher, have been doing shows near Georgetown in Washington, D.C., Bernstein added.

Cher recently filed for divorce from her second husband, rock star Gregg Allman.

Neither Miss Coelho nor Bono was available for comment.

Before their divorce, Sonny and Cher were stars of a popular variety show on CBS television. After they split up, Cher starred in her own show, but was later rejoined by her ex-husband. The show has not been renewed for next season.

Accuse Pair Of Having Marijuana

BERRIEN SPRINGS — James Harold Muffin, 22, 408 South Main street, Berrien Springs, and Daniel Raymond Layton, 19, 215 Dean's Hill road, Berrien Springs, were arrested here early Saturday morning on charges of possession of marijuana, according to Berrien Springs village-Ontonagon township police.

Police said the arrests came after officers James Kesterke and Carl Stover, on foot patrol, smelled what they suspected to be burning marijuana as they approached a car parked in an alley behind a bar on East Ferry street.

The officers said they found suspected small amounts of suspected marijuana on two men in the car. They were lodged in Berrien county jail, police said.

HE'S FEELING BETTER

Dowagiac Cyclists In Hospital

DECATUR — A Dowagiac couple remained hospitalized this morning with injuries suffered when their motorcycle was struck by a car near here Saturday afternoon.

Earl D. Caniff, 37, route 2, 82nd avenue, Dowagiac, identified by state police as Paw he driver of the motorcycle, was listed in poor condition at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo. His wife, Vickie, 28, was listed in satisfactory condition at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw.

Troopers said the Caniffs were injured when their motorcycle, headed east on M-51 near Celery Center road, was struck at 12:10 p.m. by a car driven by Maxine Fossick, 54, route 3, Decatur road, Decatur.

Police said Mrs. Fossick had just pulled out of a private drive ythe accident occurred. She was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, according to troopers.

Benton Pair Bitten By Dogs

Two Benton township children were bitten by dogs in separate incidents Sunday, police reported.

Susan Worcester, 9, of 214 Eloise drive, was bitten in the cheek and back while attending a friend's birthday party, police said. She was treated and released at Memorial hospital following the attack, which occurred at 5:30 p.m. at the home of John Brantley, 4188 Highland, rural Benton Harbor, police said.

Andrew Ross, 8, 342 East Napier, was treated and released at Memorial hospital after he was bitten by a dog at the home of Benton township policeman Robert Polmanter, 1747 Broadway, township police said. Police reported the boy suffered a leg wound in the 7 p.m. incident.

Car Runs Into Wall In Coloma

COLOMA — A Benton Harbor man was ticketed for reckless driving and charged with being drunk and disorderly Saturday afternoon after he drove his vehicle into a cement block wall in downtown Coloma.

Coloma police identified the driver as Anthony Thomas Nicpon, 38, of 4139 Riverside road, Benton Harbor.

According to officer Edward Dill, Nicpon drove his auto from a parking place along Paw Paw street, across the sidewalk, striking a cement block wall, destroying it.

Officer Dill said three minutes prior to the 5:33 p.m. accident, he ordered two youths sitting atop the cement wall to move. The wall is located between Fred's Meat Market and Chuck's Barber Shop.

South Haven Alters Meeting Of Council

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven city council will be meeting tomorrow instead of tonight due to mayor exchange day.

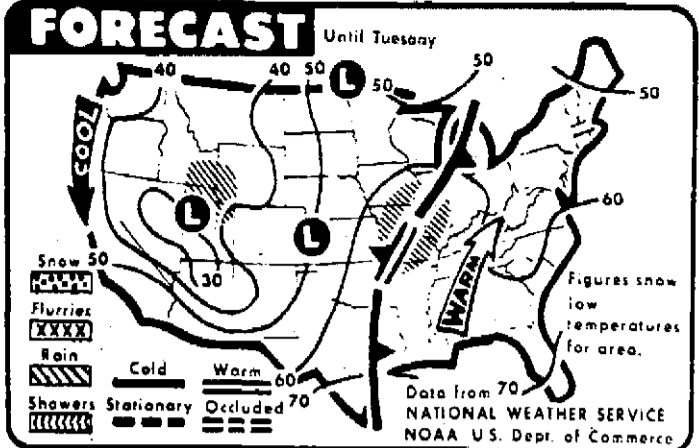

Mayor Richard Lewis and City Manager Paul Sharon and their wives are visiting Crosse Pointe Woods today while other South Haven officials are entertaining the city fathers of the Detroit suburb.

The meeting Tuesday, which will include final consideration of the fiscal 1977 budget, will begin at 7:30 p.m. in council chambers.

Accountability Emphasized

WHITEWATER, Wis. (AP) — A state legislative committee recently eliminated from the state budget a program of statewide testing of elementary and secondary school students, but some way must be found to evaluate schools' efficiency, says Lt. Gov. Martin Schreiber.

"Accountability for performance and expenditures must be established in our local schools," Schreiber said at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater commencement ceremony.

YOUR MONEY'S WORTH

VAN POOLING — GREAT WAY TO GO

Let's say you live in the area surrounding the community in which you work and you commute every day by car to and from your job. It's a common lifestyle both in suburbs and such auto-dominated cities as Washington and Los Angeles. Now let's say your company buys a passenger van so you and nine to 15 other employees living along the same general route can commute via the van to and from work. You pay a monthly fee ranging from $20 to $40, based on the operating cost of the vehicle. One employee in the "van pool" drives the van each day — in return for which the driver pays no fee and actually has personal use of the van on weekends.

Good deal, yes? It would slash your commuting costs, save enormous amounts of gas, almost surely reduce tardiness and absenteeism among all of you and quite likely boost your morale and camaraderie, too. And it would be just about the most comfortable and convenient way of commuting short of chauffeured limousine service, say observers of the "van pooling" phenomenon.

Van pooling was among the suggestions in President Carter's energy-saving package but, of course, it has been overshadowed in the mounting debate over more dramatic proposals. In fact, the White House plans to ask approval to buy 6,000 vans to transport government workers to and from their jobs at nominal cost. The federal government is the nation's biggest employer.

Van pooling is a new and fast-growing form of commutation that has been sweeping the U.S. — a system of mass transport praised by government, business, and participating workers.

In St. Paul, Minn., 1,000 riders are participating in the 331 company's van pool (already four years old). At its Detroit headquarters, Chrysler has launched an operation of 37 van pools.

In Houston, Continental Oil has organized 11 employee van pools in seven states over the past two years. Says a company spokesman, "peer pressure" among the riders has cut both tardiness and one-day "absences."

In Los Angeles, the city has begun one of the nation's biggest van pool programs — 70 vans carrying 700 commuters and with an objective of transporting as many as 100,000 riders.

If van pooling becomes a reality, the need for a second car is eliminated. You also might save from less mileage on the family car and the possibility of reduced auto insurance rates.

And then there are potential benefits from lessening of tension involved in commuting, greater reliability of the van, the fact that your own car is released for other family members.

Saving energy doesn't all have to be grim sacrifice, not by any means.

Riders Hurt As Cycle Hits Auto

NEW BUFFALO — Two South Bend, Ind., teenagers were injured Sunday evening when the motorcycle they were riding collided with a car on US-12 near Three Oaks, according to state police of the New Buffalo team.

Mark Singer, 18, and Tina Brown, 17, were reported by Pawating hospital, Niles, to be in "good" condition this morning. Both were reported to have sustained back injuries in the 6 p.m. accident. Tina Brown also was being treated for pelvic and possible internal injuries. Neither victim sustained a fractured back as early police reports indicated.

Troopers said the accident occurred when the motorcycle driven by Singer with Tina Brown as a passenger attempted to pass a car. Troopers said the car driven by Ty R. Layman, Three Oaks, began to turn into a driveway and was struck broadside by the motorcycle. Singer and Tina Brown were thrown off the motorcycle.

Troopers said Singer was to be ticketed for improper passing.

Three Hurt In Hagar Car Crash

Three people were injured in a one-car accident on Central avenue in Hagar township Sunday night, state police of the Benton Harbor post reported.

Burton L. Winfield, 20, of 556 Campbell, Benton township; Harvey J. Strong Jr., 23, of 4020 Edgewood court, St. Joseph, and Tina Mae Klein, 19, 858 Polfus drive, Benton township, were injured when a car driven by Winfield left the road at 11:30 p.m. and struck a tree, police said.

Tina Klein and Winfield were treated and released at Memorial hospital, police said. No treatment information was available concerning Strong.

Troopers said Winfield was ticketed on a charge of careless driving.

Geraniums Worth $300 Are Stolen

COLOMA — Thirty trays of geraniums valued at about $300 were destroyed when an unidentified motorist ran over them at Farmer Friday's parking lot, Friday road, Coloma township, according to township police.

The damaged was believed to have occurred sometime between 10 p.m. Saturday and early Sunday morning, police said.

Owner Paul Friday estimated the damage at $300.

VARIETY OF CHARGES FILED

Area Police Arrest Seven

Two Cities area police reported seven people were arrested on a variety of criminal charges over the weekend. Four of the arrests were made in Benton Harbor, two in St. Joseph city and one in Benton township.

Benton Harbor police Sunday charged Joe Hardin, 36, of 1122 East Main street, Benton township, with assault with a dangerous weapon (a butcher knife) after an alleged attack at 852 LaSalle avenue.

Police said Mary Johnson, of the LaSalle address, told them she was attacked by a man wielding a knife man, when she returned to her home from a vacation at 7:30 a.m. Sunday. Officers reported she treated for lacerations at Mercy hospital and released.

Two St. Joseph youths were arrested by Benton Harbor police at 5 p.m. Sunday and charged with breaking into a newspaper vending machine at the corner of West Main street and Riverview drive.

Arrested were Kent E. Jennings, 17, of 806 Jones street, and Donald W. Gilliam, 20, 902 Church street, police reported. Officers said a quantity of change was seized after the arrests.

A 16 year-old St. Joseph boy was reported arrested by Benton Harbor police on charges of curfew violation and possession of marijuana early Sunday morning. Police said the boy was found in a field off Riverview drive at 2 a.m. Sunday. Officers said they confiscated a small quantity of suspected marijuana and released the boy to his family after petitioning to juvenile court.

charge of carrying a concealed weapon. Officers said the arrest was made after troopers responded to a complaint that a man with a gun had entered the Bargain Center, 1613 M-139, Benton township. Troopers said a .38 caliber pistol was seized.

St. Joseph township police reported a marine depth finder and two downriggers valued at a total of $400 were reported stolen from a boat at Whispering Willows Marina, Niles road, Saturday. Police said the boat is owned by F. Joseph Flaugh, 176 Hastings avenue, Benton Harbor.

Alan Hold of 900 Wisconsin avenue, St. Joseph, told Benton township police at 1:57 a.m. Sunday, that $150 in cash was stolen from his auto, parked in the lot of the Moose club, Zoller drive, Benton township. Hold said the money in bills was in an envelope on the front seat.

At the same time Sunday, Clifton Birmingham, 4219 Post court, Bridgman, told township police that a CB radio antenna was broken off his auto, also in the Moose lot. The antenna was found on the ground, police said.

Benton Harbor police investigated two break-ins over the weekend at Sanitary Cleaners, 321 Pipestone street.

Police said Sanitary Cleaners President John Fettes reported at 9:27 a.m. Saturday that an undetermined amount of clothes was stolen in a break-in. Police said a citizen about 3 a.m. Sunday surprised a thief who dropped 10 bags of clothes and fled on foot. The clothes Sunday were found in an alley near the cleaners.

Willie J. Hughes told Benton Harbor police at 1:17 a.m. Sunday that a 12 gauge shotgun, television set, and combination tape recorder-radio, totaling $870, were stolen from his home, 841 Pasadena.

Jimmy Green about 8 a.m. Saturday, reported to Benton Harbor police that a brick had been thrown through the rear window of his auto, parked at his home, 780 Pavone street.

RAQUEL: New film with Jean-Paul

A SERIOUS PART, PLEASE

Raquel Hunts Film Role

Q: What's happened to Raquel Welch's movie career? Isn't she ever going to star in another film? — C.H., Bay Village, Ohio

A: Raquel is always asking the same question plus, "Why don't I get asked to do serious parts?" Since her film, "Mother, Jugs and Bops," Raquel, who is 37, has concentrated on her nightclub act. She is dying for a good role and hopes she has found one opposite Jean-Paul Belmondo in a new French film, "The Animal." They play two stunt people.

Q: One of the top music idols of the past decade, Bob Dylan is the only one who hasn't really tried to break into movies. Why? — E.Y., Morris Bay, Calif.

A: Dylan's talents are primarily as writer, composer, singer — not as an actor — and obviously he never considered himself ripe for a movie like the Beatles or Mick Jagger or David Bowie. However, he soon plans to produce and star in a film with members of the Rolling Thunder Revue. In fact, this is just part of his new image to break out of the reclusive mold and become more public — like playing Vegas — but only as a one-night concert artist. Still, when did you last think of Dylan in Vegas or starring in a film?

WHERE IT'S AT: Ever since the early Kennedy days the favorite Washington eatery for "in" Administration people has been the very chic Sans Souci. The Bundys and Rockefellers always ate there. Art Buchwald held court at a corner table. But him this quiet warning: The Soviet Union is getting ready to resume ties with Israel and even though they still support the PLO they're facing up to certain realities, even if this means dishing out some rough medicine to an ally.

Q: Is Roger Moore still having trouble with his former wife? I think I read they were suing each other once again. — R.F., Chicago

A: Moore's former wife, British singer Dorothy Squires, who is not only quite a bit older than Roger but was very helpful during his early career, has been in and out of the courts for a decade with her now very successful ex-husband.

Currently, Roger is suing to prevent her from publishing some rather frank love letters in an autobiography. To make matters worse, it seems Dorothy has also gotten her hands on letters — gushy love notes — from Roger's present Italian-born wife, Luisa, sent to Roger when he was still married to Dorothy. So Luisa is also suing the first Mrs. Moore.

Q: Call me square, but I can't believe that all this adultery that everyone is talking about really happens. Wouldn't you say it's just media hype? —

J.J., Peoria, Ill.

A: According to a recent report, infidelity seems to be becoming America's favorite indoor sport. Dr. Fred Humphrey of the University of Connecticut has just completed a survey among some 100 marriage counselors and found that, according to their studies, extracurricular sex is practiced by nearly half the married population.

Q: Phyllis Diller looks pretty good since all her plastic surgery. Does she have a man in her life? — Valerio, Calif.

A: She's seen around occasionally with actor Taylor Williams. The relationship doesn't look all that promising, however. On a recent celebrity flight to Las Vegas, she kept introducing Williams patronizingly as "an actor person." Her real interest on the trip seemed to be gathering up everyone's mini wine bottle. Phyllis collects them and she's supposed to have some 200 boxes of the bottles.

this is now all changing — the Carter people have quietly ditched the Sans Souci. The new "in" eating spot, if you want to rub shoulders with the Carters and their admirers, is the Hay Adams, across the street from the White House. Except, of course, for those nose-to-the-grindstone Carters who are brown-bagging it in their offices.

Q: That famous Kansas tornado sequence in the "Wizard of Oz" — how is that going to be handled in the film version of the classic with Diana Ross? It takes place in Harlem. — R.Y., Bayville, N.Y.

A: The talent behind "The Wiz" have decided that Diana's Dorothy should dream herself to the land of Oz when a snowstorm hits Harlem. And since snow is also a euphemism for cocaine, this may be quite a trip for our updated fairy tale heroine.

HESITATION CAN BE COSTLY

Once you put real estate on the market, you have to make up your mind to move when the right offer comes. Your asking price should come pretty close to your selling price if you have priced your property realistically. The right offer may be your first offer, and if you turn it down, you may never get another as good.

However, the offer should be a written one—the only kind that has any real significance and on which you can depend. Just remember that a legitimate offer should be accepted by a good-sized check depending on the selling price. Never accept a verbal promise and take your property off the market. The next day, a good sale may be lost if you are tied up in this type of questionable transaction. You'll never have to worry about this situation arising if the sale of your property is in the hands of a Realtor.

KNOW THE JOYS AND BENEFITS OF FASTER READING

One fact about a home study course called "Reading Improvement Studies" has surprised thousands of people. The proper technique for faster reading also increases one's ability to remember and understand stories, newspaper and magazine articles, textbooks, business communications — anything in print. "Reading Improvement Studies" teaches a method that can improve reading speed, comprehension and enjoyment for anyone — child or adult. Developed by university educators, "Reading Improvement Studies" is based on proven training techniques that overcome bad reading habits, teach reading of whole sentences at a glance — not word by word. Improved reading ability aids students, saves time in business, broadens the pleasure of general reading. "Reading Improvement Studies" consists of an Excel-O-Reader device, two sets of training slides, one for children, one for adults, instruction manual and Reader Rater booklet. It is designed to make reading and study fun instead of drudgery. In a very short time this course can pay for itself in better reading benefits. Why not start now? Send in the coupon below.
